NORTHCLIFFE DENIES REMARK KING CALLED LIE

But Curzon Lies, He Says in Cable Row.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—Lord Northcliffe began his second day in Washington by flatly denouncing as a lie a cabled report of Lord Curzon's statement that he had nothing to do with the action of the British embassy in boycotting the owner of the London Times during his stay in the capital.

Before the echo of the short and ugly word had died away, so emphatically was it uttered, the owner of the Thunderer was cabling to the king's secretary denying that he had given out in New York the interview quoting an alleged conversation between the king and the prime minister, a repudiation of which, authorized by King George, was read today by Mr. Lloyd George in the house of commons.

The Editor's Cabled Denial.

"Please convey to his majesty with my humble duty my denial of having ascribed to his majesty any such words as was stated by prime minister. I gave no such interview," Lord Northcliffe cabled to Lord Stamfordham, the king's secretary.

The interview in question was given in New York by H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, who arrived with Lord Northcliffe last Saturday. Mr. Steed discussed the Irish problem at length, and the active part played by the king in bringing about settlement.

"At the last meeting he had with Lloyd George before leaving for Ireland," he said, "the king asked him, 'Are you going to shoot all the people in Ireland?' 'No, your majesty,' the premier replied.

"'Well, then,' the king said, 'you must come to some agreement with them. This thing cannot go on. I cannot have my people killed in this manner.'"

Did King Write Own Speech?

Mr. Steed also intimated that the king made his own speech in Belfast. One press report of the Steed interview said that the editor was authorized by Lord Northcliffe to issue the statement. Lord Northcliffe, however, was never quoted in any interview as having quoted either a real or imaginary conversation between the king and Lloyd George on the Irish or any other problem, and his responsibility in the Steed interview is denied in his message to the king's secretary.

Mr. Steed tonight said that he had been misquoted while in New York, and that the alleged conversation between the king and the prime minister attributed to him was entirely unwarranted.

Says Reporter Is Trustworthy.

A dispatch tonight from New York contains this statement to be printed in the morning in the New York Times regarding the interview that started the trouble:

"The interview with Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, published in the Times last Monday, was written by a trustworthy reporter, who believes that he reported accurately what Mr. Steed said. Mr. Steed has since told the Times that it contained matter that should not have been published. Mr. Steed did not have an opportunity to revise the interview.

"As reprinted in England—in one of Lord Northcliffe's own papers, according to the cable dispatches—it appears that the interview was incorrectly attributed to Lord Northcliffe himself. Lord Northcliffe has not given to the Times, nor has the Times reported him as giving, any statement of a purported conversation between King George V. and Mr. David Lloyd George."

Interviewed at Bath.

Lord Northcliffe's irritation over the two dispatches from London was greatly augmented by the heat to which he is unaccustomed. The sweltering atmosphere, preceding a heavy thunderstorm which cleared and cooled the air at noon, visibly affected Lord Northcliffe, who streamed with perspiration while expressing his opinion of Lord Curzon's denial of any connection with the boycott order.

"Be brief, young man," he snapped at the reporter who called as the publisher was emerging from his morning bath. "I want to get out of this heat. I can't stand it."

"Can't you say something more about it?" the reporter urged, referring to Lord Curzon's statement.

"What more do you want?" Northcliffe returned. "I said it was a lie, didn't I?"

As the weather cooled, however, Lord Northcliffe evidently felt better, for following the luncheon given in his honor by the Overseas club, a

Hunger Strike Ends Life of Wife Slayer

Andrew Brykajlo, who killed his wife last April, yesterday achieved his object, death by starvation.

"I will never hang," he had told the authorities. "I will go to my wife, fasting."

He had starved himself for sixty-six days, taking nothing save a little milk and now and then an orange.

He died in the county hospital, where he had been taken after physicians at the county jail had despaired of getting him to take nourishment.

Brykajlo began the hunger strike three weeks after he was sent to jail to await trial. He had shot his wife after a quarrel in their home at 1755 West North avenue. Then he had fought a revolver duel with Policeman Dennis Condon and had been wounded twice.

Forced to Take Food.

When he first refused food the jail officials were not alarmed. Others have gone on hunger strikes for several days. But when he kept up his campaign of starvation after many days, Dr. Norman Copeland took him to the jail hospital and administered food by artificial means.

The prisoner continued to waste away. Jailer Peter Lawrence appealed to Assistant State's Attorneys Robert McMillan and Milton D. Smith. The prosecutors consulted Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald, and the slayer was carried into court on a chair.

The judge set Brykajlo's bonds at $15,000. A bailiff held the man's thin right hand as it signed the bond. And then he was rushed to the hospital.

Physicians there said artificial feeding would not save life; it would only prolong the ordeal. The man could save himself if he would; no one else could.

Eats When No One Is Near.

Tricks were tried to tempt him. Glasses of milk were left at his bedside. Oranges were placed within his reach. While any one was present Brykajlo made no move to touch them. When he was alone the milk and oranges vanished.

"Probably he ate because of the acute pains that accompanied his self-starvation," said Warden Michael Zimmer. "But he did not eat enough to sustain life."

Every day, attendants noticed, he grew a little more emaciated, his cheeks were a little hollower, his eyes a little brighter, his beard thicker.

He kept talking about his wife.

"I saw her last night," he would say. "I talked to her. She says she is waiting for me, and I have promised to come. She does not want me hanged. I told her I would be with her soon, perhaps tomorrow, perhaps the next day. But it will not be long."

PASTOR BEAT HIM WITH HARNESS, SAYS ORPHAN, 10

Trial of the Rev. Adolph Mysch, superintendent of the Evangelical Old People's and Orphans' home at Bentonville, Ill., charged with beating Joseph Haars, a 10 year old orphan, began yesterday in Wheaton.

"We had been told to study some German verse," said the boy. "I couldn't learn it. It was too hard. When Mr. Mysch went out of the room we started playing cars. He caught us. He took me by the ear, led me to his office, and hit me seventeen or eighteen times on the back with a heavy piece of harness."

Mrs. Goldie Miller testified she had heard the boy's cries, had seen the pastor strike him once, had demanded that he stop, and that the pastor then had threatened to strike her.

Dr. J. M. Maury testified the boy's body was covered with welts and one of his ears had been torn. The case was continued until next Wednesday, when Dr. Mysch will testify in his own behalf.

KIDNAP SON OF CHICAGO BROKER; THEN LET HIM GO

Peoria, Ill., July 29.—[Special.]—Alvah Hill, 15, son of William Hill, Chicago produce broker at 121 West South Water street, told the police today that Monday morning he had been seized on the streets of Peoria in broad daylight, chloroformed, robbed, and taken unconscious in an automobile to Davenport, Ia., more than 100 miles distant.

The lad walked into Peoria yesterday from Bureau Junction. He has a pair of badly swollen feet from the hike. He is a student at Northwestern Military academy and is spending his vacation with his uncle, William Hill, Peoria broker.

"I was walking downtown Monday morning," he said, "when I stopped and pulled $20 in bills from my pocket. Some man passed me, stopped and looked into my face. I pocketed the money and strolled on. The man kept pace a while, then walked away, and I thought no more of him."

Hill says that shortly afterward an automobile came down the wrong side of the street, stopped, and the man he had seen earlier leaped out and, grasping him, pressed a drug saturated handkerchief to his nose.

Two other men and a woman were in the car, Hill said. When the boy revived, he says, he was in a strange house.

"When I came to," says Hill, "they released me. I ran until I became sick, then hailed a man I learned later was C. H. Green. He told me I was in Davenport, Ia. Then he took me as far as Bureau Junction. I walked back to Peoria."

MAN FLEES AS GIRL IS FOUND POISON VICTIM

Miss Lucille Tyson, 23 years old, a manicure, was found lying on the grass near Diversey beach yesterday by George Stroik of 3630 George street.

He says she was crying and seemed in pain. As he went toward her, he declares, he saw a young man walk hurriedly away. Stroik placed the young woman on a bench. She said she had been poisoned. He called Park Policeman Carl Carlson.

"A man gave me twenty-five poison tablets," she told the policeman. To Dr. John Akster of the Town Hall station, however, she admitted she had taken the poison herself. She would not talk about the man.

SALARY FADEOUT HITS FILM STARS

Closeup of Hard Times Cuts Their Pay.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—That Charlie Chaplin, the famed comedian of the silver sheet, made $1,200,000, including royalties, in one year from one film, which netted $1,500,000 additional profit for the producers, was told the house ways and means committee today by William A. Brady, theatrical and movie manager.

Mr. Brady, with Saul Rogers and other movie magnates, had appeared before the committee to urge the repeal of the special taxes in the Fordney tariff bill. They urged the repeal of the film, seating and admission taxes.

High Salaried Days Gone.

Mr. Brady declared that motion picture business had fallen off so that these tremendous salaries could no longer be paid; indeed, that movie stars have been forced to take a cut in salary or have gone into the business of managing themselves and paying their own salaries.

"Ninety per cent of the actors of the country now are walking the streets," said Mr. Brady. "Only one movie producer was able to pay a dividend last year. High salaries have disappeared.

"It was mainly the inability of the producers to pay the salaries demanded by the stars that caused them to organize their own production company. The day of the Pickford, Fairbanks and Chaplin salaries has passed.

Smaller Theaters Hardest Hit.

"The depression and the high taxes have hit hardest the smaller theaters in the little towns. Then the people are refusing to accept the cheap one-reel films."

Mr. Rogers said that 4,000 moving picture houses throughout the country have closed their doors.

Hearings on the tax legislation were ended with the protests of the motion picture representatives and those of the fur industries.

Navy to Discharge 12,000 Enlisted Men Under Law

Washington, D. C., July 29.—Twelve thousand enlisted men will be discharged from the navy upon application to reduce the personnel to legislative requirements of the 100,000 men for whom pay is provided.

"HITCHY" TELLS SAD TALE OF BANKRUPTCY

New York, July 29.—Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, who recently filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, gave evidence today in support of the claim that he was "broke."

He told Referee Townsend that the frolicsome show, "Hitchy Koo," caused his downfall, leaving him with only notes, pawntickets and scenery. The show bogged down at Philadelphia, he explained, and he had to pawn a watch that "Diamond Jim" Brady had given him in order to buy railroad tickets for the chorus girls.

The referee, seeking to learn of the comedian's assets, which he listed at $125, asked about his town house, his country place on Long Island and his automobile. Mr. Hitchcock said his wife owned them all.

The actor declared his liabilities were too numerous to mention within two hours, so the case was adjourned to Aug. 25.

Spanish Lost 4,000 in Fighting Near Melilla

LONDON, July 29.—Casualties suffered by the Spanish forces in the first two days of the recent fighting near Melilla numbered about 4,000, says the Melilla correspondent of the London Times, while they lost forty guns, many machine guns, and eighty-five tons of munitions, in addition to automobiles and a great quantity of equipment and arms, left in abandoned posts.

He adds that indescribable panic occurred in Melilla when news was received there of the death of Gen. Silvestre and his staff. The general's disappearance contributed greatly to the disorganization which followed.

FEUDIST KILLS, SHOOTS SELF, IN COURTROOM

Policeman Fires on Judge, Lawyer.

Feudism, reminiscent of the Tennessee mountains, broke loose in a Chicago court room yesterday. It brought about the death of Attorney Lemuel M. Ackley, the attempted suicide—likely to be successful—of Desk Sergeant Harry D. Kellogg of the Lawndale police station, a narrow escape by Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald of the Criminal court, and the injury of two women in a nine story fall of an elevator crowded with panic stricken court spectators and attendants.

The usual quiet midsummer afternoon court session was in progress when the case of Barto vs. Kellogg was called by the clerk.

Land Fued Causes Tragedy.

Kellogg, in his blue uniform, sat half way down the aisle. Some distance ahead sat Ackley with his son, Lemuel Jr, and his grandson, John S. Hickey.

Kellogg had claimed title to a piece of Arlington Heights land owned by Mrs. Selena Barto. A master in chancery had ruled against him. He had seized the property by force. The hearing was on a charge of contempt of court resulting from this seizure. Ackley represented Mrs. Barto, his sister.

The calling of the case brought both attorney and policeman to their feet and forward to the inclosure directly in front of Judge McDonald. There, during the preliminary arguments, Sergt. Kellogg occupied a chair. Finally he arose and stood by his attorney, Frank C. Leviton. The arguments over, the judge considered the affair, and then said slowly:

"Sergt. Kellogg, after hearing the evidence admitted here, I fine you $100 and sentence you to the county jail for fifteen days."

First Shot Perils Judge.

Kellogg's right hand strayed slowly to his hip.

He jerked his revolver, a "police special," from its worn holster, took half a step toward Ackley, muttered something about "persecution" and started firing.

The first bullet clipped the bench two feet from the face of Judge McDonald.

The second bullet struck Attorney Ackley in the back, as did the third; the lawyer fell without a sound. The fourth and fifth shots were fired over the heads of the spectators, and both nicked deep into the courtroom walls. The sixth bullet Kellogg fired at himself. It entered the right side of Kellogg's neck, passed through the inside of the skull, shattered the optic nerve and imbedded itself deep into the muscles. Kellogg fell scarcely a foot from the man he had killed.

With the first bullet Judge McDonald started to his feet and for his chambers. The clerks did the same. The bailiffs jumped for Kellogg, as did Capt. Atkinson and Lieut. William Fitzgerald of the Warren avenue station, seated half way up the aisle. The sergeant fell before they reached him.

As Ackley crumpled to the floor his grandson, John Hickey, and his son, Lemuel Jr., sprang toward him.

"Don't go under, dad," cried Lemuel. "Be a fighter!"

Pandemonium in Court.

The courtroom at the first shot became a scene of panic. The crowd of spectators plunged toward the door, which soon was jammed.

Those who got outside rushed to the elevator shafts; the first elevator to appear was overloaded. The moment the brakes were released it plunged straight downward; when the brakes were applied again they could not stop its progress down the shaft. It crashed far below to the plungers, set there in case of emergency. Two women were slightly hurt and others badly shaken up.

Chief Restores Order.

The sound of shots brought bailiffs rushing from nearby courtrooms; Coroner Hoffman arrived with half his staff; Chief Deputy Sheriff Laubenheimer and an armed guard dashed to the scene. Soon the courtroom was filled again with officers more noisy than the fleeing spectators. It took Chief Fitzmorris and a squad of coppers twenty minutes to restore order.

Ackley, dying, was rushed to St. Luke's hospital. Kellogg was taken

Cannons Roar, Big Parade to Herald Event

Line of March for the Pageant of Progress parade, which begins at noon:

Start, Michigan avenue and Roosevelt road, north to Jackson boulevard, west to La Salle street, north to Randolph, east to Michigan, north over the new link bridge to Ohio street, east to the Lake Shore drive, and north to Superior street.

Chicago will open its Pageant of Progress today with the roar of cannon, the explosion of bombs, the riffle of drums, the music of bands, the whirring of airplanes, the rush of speed boats, the tramp of marching feet.

At 10 o'clock this morning, Vice President Calvin Coolidge, in Boston, will touch a button. The fire gongs on the Municipal pier will start a-ringing. Blue jackets will fire five three inch guns. The Thearle-Duffield Fireworks company will explode fifteen daylight bombs.

Radio to Herald Event.

The Inter-City Radio company will send out wireless messages that will be caught perhaps as far as 5,000 miles away.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor James J. Davis, representing President Harding, will deliver the opening address. The Santa Maria hydroplane will fly over and around the pier announcing the opening through its wireless apparatus and the Magnavox amplifier. Bands will play "America" and "Hail Chicago." And all the exhibits will be thrown open to the thousands of spectators.

At noon a salute of twenty-one guns will be fired at Fort Sheridan by order of the secretary of war. The guns that will fire this salute fired different salutes at Chateau Thierry.

It is expected that 75,000 persons will take part in the parade. Chief of Police Charles C. Fitzmorris is grand marshal and will have fifty assistants.

Pony Express to Appear.

One of the features of the parade, the exhibit of the American Railway Express company, consists of "the pony express," and an old stage coach. A pony express rider, costumed as in the days when the riders went in relays of twenty miles on ponies, will be followed by the original "Ben Holliday No. 14 coach," used by Wells Fargo & Co. for transporting express in California.

This coach figured in numerous holdups in which a notorious bandit known as "Black Bart" was the principal actor. The coach was transported around "the Horn" in 1849 and was in use in 1851.

The wagons and autos following the stage coach will show the "seventy years of progress" in the express service, from 1851 to 1921.

Women's Band a Feature.

The Women's band will head the woman's section. Twenty-five of the city's outlying sections will be represented by floats, and the "queen" of each district represented in the pageant will ride on one of these floats.

Everything is set for the day, and even the weather men listened to reason, promising "generally fair and moderately warm weather, with the temperature around 80 degrees."

Religious services will be held tomorrow morning on the Great Lakes naval unit's reservation at the entrance to the pier. Chaplain Salisbury will speak on "The Good Fight." The sailors' band and a quartet of singers will feature the service. More than 1,000 sailors are encamped about the pier for the exposition.

Tomorrow night there will be an Italian demonstration, with numerous mandolin and guitar serenades and more than 200 singing patriotic songs and Italian airs. Maestro Fiore di Giorgio will direct the music.

Fifty members of the Indiana Republican Editors' association, arrived in Chicago yesterday to see the pageant. Special arrangements are being made by the management of the Congress hotel for the editors' comfort. Special boxes are being built, from which they will witness the parade.

'What a Lie!' Northcliffe Says Sadly; 'It's Near Beer'

Washington, D. C., July 29.—In a rudely constructed summer refreshment "parlor" just outside the famous Mount Vernon grounds in Virginia, Lord Northcliffe and Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, sipped near beer. The Britishers were resting after "seeing" Mount Vernon and cooling off preparatory to motoring back to Washington.

Finally Northcliffe arose from his chair.

"What a fake!" he said, gazing at his empty bottle of near-beer brew. "A liquid lie."

The refreshment party was over.

GOVERNOR SETS DATE FOR FACING SHERIFF MESTER

Reaches Aurora on Tour of Roads.

Gov. Len Small announced to the Associated Press in Aurora last night that he would return to Springfield "about the middle of next week" to face the sheriff who holds warrants charging him with embezzling $500,000 of the taxpayers' money and with conspiring to embezzle $2,000,000 from the same source.

Aurora was the first stopping place of the governor on his "good roads inspection tour," which, it was announced when he left Chicago late in the afternoon, would prevent him temporarily from going to the capital. At that time the governor's itinerary was not revealed. But at Aurora it was given out that he would motor to Elgin to inspect two road projects today, and then would go south via Joliet.

Mr. Small expects to spend Sunday at his home in Kankakee. Beyond that date his program was not made known in detail.

Gives Out a Statement.

The giving out of a statement preceded the governor's departure from Chicago. Almost its only difference from the contents of his previous statements was that he featured an alleged "cement trust" among the enemies that he claims were responsible for his indictment.

In his "jubilee" speech at Riverview park last Saturday, he charged that the prosecution was due to his announcement that he would call a special session of the legislature to act for 5-cent street car fares and the creation of a tax commission.

Revives His Old Charges.

But in connection with road inspection, he revived his pre-indictment charges that the road material interests are also in the group that are assailing his record as state treasurer. The statement also repeated his general declaration of innocence, this time coupling it with a declaration that Attorney General Brundage and others during the last four years have had access to his "official record."

It further asks the people not to prejudge the situation until he has had "an opportunity to demonstrate by the process provided by law" that there is no evidence of wrongdoing on his part.

The Governor's Statement.

The statement, which was signed by the governor and addressed "to the people of the state of Illinois," follows:

"Up to the time that I announced my candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor, no person ever accused me of any wrongdoing.

"Attorney General Brundage, his associates, and the interests which they represent have had open access to my official record all during the last four years. They have known all the while the exact amount of moneys which I had in my custody as state treasurer, and they know, as I know, that I am absolutely innocent of every charge made in the indictments voted against me by the Sangamon county grand jury.

"I ask the people of Illinois not to pre-judge this situation until I have had an opportunity to demonstrate by the process provided by law that there is not one single iota of evidence existing as to any wrongdoing on my part.

Denies He Retained Any Money.

"I again reiterate that I have never retained for myself one penny of the state's money or personally profited, directly or indirectly, in any way, shape or form, from state funds or interest on state funds.

"I appeal to the people of Illinois to await final decisions through the laws of our state and then judge as to whether I am an honest man or whether my political traducers are guilty of the most damnable conspiracy and scheme of persecution to drive me from my path of duty.

"I want the good men and women of Illinois to realize that the interests who planned to rob the people of this state of $12,000 or more a mile, or nearly $54,000,000, for the building of roads, are not now idle in Springfield.

"The traction interests who are robbing the people in Chicago of $20,000 a day in excess street car fares, in violation of contracts, are not now idle in Springfield, as one of their attorneys who represented the traction companies in the Circuit court of Sangamon county and before the Supreme court of the state of Illinois, is now one of the busiest men in trying to impair my usefulness.

"Every man and woman in Illinois who is forced to pay exorbitant taxes upon their small homes should realize that my demand for the bringing to light of the hidden billions of dollars in this state of untaxed property in the possession of the rich tax dodgers has sent the agents of these interests to the state capital to grind out lies to besmirch my good name, and with such propaganda seek to intimidate me to forsake the people and let the interests plunder the state.

"I want the people of Illinois to rest assured that I will not yield in my determination to exercise my constitutional authority to permit no set of men or interests to interfere in the performance of my duty. I will invoke every power of the state to keep at bay the corrupt and scheming agents of those in whose way I stand."

The governor, with his son, Leslie, returned by automobile from Kankakee and immediately went into conference at the Great Northern, where Fred Lundin was unusually conspicuous, supposedly intentionally so, in order to offset reports in the Small camp that the governor had determined to cease following the suggestions of the city hall boss.

From there he went to the Otis building, where it was believed he visited the office of an attorney, also connected with the newspaper business, whom he had visited earlier in the week. From there he went back to the Great Northern, where the statement was made.

"Motorizing" the State House.

An hour later the automobile tour began. This program was referred to during the day as "motorizing the state house" and as "putting the capitol on wheels," but the governor, in an interview with an afternoon newspaper man, said:

"The good roads question is the most important of the hour."

His complete itinerary was not announced, but the party started out the Lake street road, and Elgin and Aurora were mentioned as the stopping points for the evening. Will county is said to be next and Coles county will follow.

The party included, in addition to Mr. Small, his son, Leslie; his son-in-law, Col. A. E. Inglesh; R. C. Miller, director of public roads and buildings, and S. E. Bradt, superintendent of highways; Clifford Oder, highway engineer, and W. W. Schroeder, secretary of the legislative reference bureau.

SMALL LAWYERS AT OUTS?

Springfield, Ill., July 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Small's legal advisers in Chicago and his downstate counsel are not working in harmony, according to reports here today. Attorney James M. Graham, who returned to Springfield last night from the Chicago conference, announced today that he has not receded from his original position that the governor is not liable to arrest.

A significant admission by Mr. Graham was that he has never seen Attorney Albert Fink in his life. Mr. Fink, it now appears, was not in conference with the downstate lawyers. It was Fink who sent the telegram to State's Attorney C. F. Mortimer announcing that the governor was ready to surrender and obey the court's orders.

"The attitude taken by Attorney Fink has been a great disappointment to me," said Mr. Mortimer. "When I received the message stating that Gov. Small had decided to surrender to the court I thought it was sent in good faith, and Sheriff Mester replied, asking that he be informed when the governor would return to Springfield. As yet he has paid no attention to the sheriff's reply, even to acknowledging receipt of it."

Attorney George B. Gillespie did not appear to be in good humor when he returned from the Chicago conference. He hurried away last night without talking to reporters and today refused to discuss the case.

"Will you return to Chicago for another conference?" he was asked.

"I am ready to go to Chicago or anywhere else any time my services are needed or any time that the governor's plans may require," he said.

"Has the governor's course been definitely decided upon?"

"I cannot discuss the case at all."

"Then it is safe to say you will return to Chicago for another conference?"

"It isn't safe to say anything," he retorted.

VALUATION ISSUE TO BE SETTLED FIRST IN TARIFF

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—Tariff hearings will be suspended temporarily by the senate finance committee, following further hearings on the American valuation plan Monday and Tuesday, in order to determine definitely whether this feature of the Fordney bill shall be approved or not. Senator Penrose, Pennsylvania, chairman, said today that before hearing further witnesses it is desirable to have the valuation issue settled.

Senator Penrose said he still has an open mind on the question of valuation and the belief is growing that the committee will reject the plan. They will approve, it is expected, a modification of the present system by which American manufacturers would be able to make a showing as to American values, after which duties would be imposed on a theoretical foreign value.

The committee began hearings today on the chemical schedule of the Fordney bill. Some of the witnesses touched on the need of an embargo on imports of dyes.

WIFE DIVORCES "NO SUCH THING AS LOVE" AUTHOR

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 29.—[Special.]—Judge Morschauser of Harry Thaw and Stillman cases fame, today handed down an interlocutory decree of divorce to Aimee Reynaud Morris, wife of Dr. Robert T. Morris, noted surgeon of New York City. She is also granted $425 a month alimony, without counsel fees.

Justice Morschauser bases his opinion mainly on the testimony of William Yates, a Canadian guide, who told how Dr. Morris is alleged to have taken a beautiful young unnamed woman on a trip through the wilds of Canada.

Dr. Morris is a philosophic advocate of the theory that there is no such thing as love, and has written several books on the psychology of love. Dr. Morris did not defend the suit.

A MOUNTAIN FEUD IN A CHICAGO COURTROOM

1. Fined $100 and sentenced to fifteen days in jail for contempt of court, Sergt. Harry D. Kellogg, known as "Chicago's millionaire policeman," opened fire with a revolver in Judge McDonald's courtroom yesterday.

2. His first bullet struck within two feet of the judge's head; his target, Attorney Lemuel M. Ackley, who had prosecuted the case against him, fell mortally wounded. Ricocheting bullets created panic in the room.

3. While the judge fled from the bench and spectators darted for cover, Kellogg turned his weapon upon himself and sent a bullet into his head. Bailiffs and lawyers attempted to disarm him, but were too late.

in a police ambulance to the county hospital. Ackley died on the operating table. Surgeons probing for the bullet lodged in Kellogg's neck doubted he would last through the night.

CLIMAX OF OLD FEUD

The feud that led up to the affair is typical of those of the Tennessee hills. There were two men, both with families. The scene was laid out in the farm land near Arlington Heights, northwest of Chicago—and the contestants brought their troubles to a court. One of them, dissatisfied, shot up the courtroom.

The beginning dates back to 1907, it was learned. Then Sergt. Kellogg, known as the "millionaire policeman" through his success at speculating in "tax titles," obtained a lease to a five acre plot of land from James Wayman, a farmer living near Arlington Heights.

Wayman had leased 20 acres from Mrs. Francis L. Sissom, the property being later sold to Mrs. Selena A. Barto, a widow from Pittsburgh, Pa. For some years Mrs. Barto didn't know of the sublease from Wayman to Kellogg. Kellogg paid the taxes on the land as well as $25 a year for rent. Finally Kellogg appeared in court and claimed title to the land, exhibiting his tax receipts as evidence. Mrs. Barto retained Attorney Ackley.

Evicted, Comes Back.

Kellogg moved a small building, which he called a bungalow, onto the place and built a barn. The family occupied the bungalow. In 1912 Attorney Ackley instituted ejectment proceedings. Kellogg was ejected.

Later he came back and again took possession of the property; this time he paid rent to no one. Then Attorney Ackley filed another suit. Kellogg lost, but appealed the case to the Supreme court. And there he lost.

On July 15 last Attorney Ackley took his family to live at Hickory road and Miner avenue, Arlington Heights. The property adjoins the land under dispute. When he found Kellogg in possession of the "trouble bungalow," he appealed to the sheriff. Kellogg was again routed; his furniture was taken from the house and stored in the barn. John Hickey, Ackley's 18 year old grandson, was named as custodian of the place and given the keys.

Two weeks ago Kellogg went out to the place, showed Hickey papers that, he said, were deeds to the property, and offered him $100 for the keys. Hickey turned them over and later told Attorney Ackley of it. Mrs. Ackley then was placed in charge.

Women Take Hand in Feud.

A week ago last Monday two women, later identified as Mrs. Kellogg and her sister, Mrs. Sophie Hanson, went to the bungalow. They handed Mrs. Ackley what seemed to be a legal paper and asked her who she was.

Then both drew revolvers, it is charged. Mrs. Ackley, her son, Lemuel Jr., and Hickey fled. Three shots were fired after them.

Then Ackley brought action against Kellogg in the Superior court to show cause why he was not in contempt of court.

The action was referred to Master in Chancery Charles S. Stillman of the Superior court; his findings were returned to Judge McDonald yesterday.

WOMAN DEFENDS DEED

Mrs. Sophie Hanson, sister of Sergt. Kellogg's wife, was brought in by the police for questioning. She lives at 2341-43 Calumet avenue, in a building owned jointly by her and the policeman slayer.

"Kellogg did just what I would have done," she said. "Ackley tried hard to get a forty acre farm I own away from me."

Sergt. Kellogg has spent thirty years "on the force." He is worth, fellow officers declare, between $300,000 and $500,000.

Kellogg has six children. His record in the police department was good until last March, when he stood trial for neglect of duty and was fined one day's pay. On June 22 he was again disciplined by the trial board on a charge of loafing on post and smoking while on duty. He was one of those suspended by Chief Fitzmorris and later reinstated.

Attorney Ackley was 52 years old. His Chicago residence was at 852 Wolfram street. He had practiced law here for thirty years. He leaves a widow and five children. The children are Mrs. Harold Kuhlber, Allison Park, Pa.; Mrs. Estelle Hickey, 842 Wolfram street; F. Ackley, 2642 Florence street, employed by the Chicago and Northwestern railway; Lemuel F. Ackley Jr., and Miss Laura Ackley.

Lemuel Ackley, whose activities as counsel for Mrs. Selma A. Barto, plaintiff in the suit against the policeman, incurred the latter's enmity and led to his death.

Chief Justice McDonald of the Superior court. The judge was saved from probably a serious injury when a one inch wooden molding stopped one of the slayer's bullets.

Sergt. H. D. Kellogg, who started the fusillade after he had been found guilty of retaining possession of a farm near Arlington Heights, from which he had been judicially ousted.

WIDOW AND 2 MEN ORDERED HELD AT "BIG STEVE" INQUEST

Mrs. Mary Wisnewsky, widow of "Big Steve" Wisnewsky, who was found murdered near Libertyville about ten days ago, Attorney David Alexander, 11 North La Salle street, who claims to be the administrator of his estate, and Harry Snyder were ordered held for investigation last night at the inquest. Mrs. Wisnewsky, who claimed the body, failed to appear at the inquest and did not produce her marriage certificate. Alexander sought to get the personal effects of the slain man, and the jury believes that Snyder "knows a lot more about the case than he has told." The inquest was continued until next Tuesday.

FEE LIMIT AT JOHNS HOPKINS NOT ARBITRARY

Baltimore, Md., July 29.—[Special.]—The Johns Hopkins hospital has not said finally and without qualification that a patient may never be charged under any circumstances more than $25 a week for medical attention, nor more than $1,000 for an operation. It has said that when more than these sums are charged the hospital authorities must be informed of the circumstances and must approve the charge.

That statement was made today by Judge Henry D. Harlan, the president of the board of trustees of the Johns Hopkins hospital.

"There is no plan to fix charges for each order of operation, is there?" Judge Harlan was asked, "that is to say, that an operation for appendicitis should cost so much, or an operation for another malady so much?"

"Of course not; that's not practicable," Judge Harlan answered.

HAD EX-CHICAGO TEACHER JAILED; POLICE NAB HIM

Omaha, Neb., July 29.—[Special.]—Accusing her own accuser of being a white slaver, Miss Tessie Van Arsdale, 25, of 729 North Springfield avenue, Chicago, arrested in Omaha today on complaint of W. J. Welsh of Sioux Cit, was sent to jail, but Welsh also was locked up. He told the police he was acting for the Van Arsdale family, and was trying to save the girl from evil. Miss Van Arsdale, according to her statement, was formerly a school teacher in Chicago.

"I am the black sheep of the family, I suppose," she told the court, "but that man brought me to this," she cried, pointing at Welsh. "He told mother he was going to marry me, but he failed to show up at the church."

PROCLAMATION OF PEACE IN TEN DAYS FORECAST

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—A proclamation of peace between the United States and the central powers of Europe may be issued within the next ten days.

It was indicated at the White House today that the President was much nearer a decision on this issue than was generally expected.

BUSINESS FEELS HELPING HAND OF ADMINISTRATION

U. S. Finances Good, Statement Says.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—Summarizing efforts of the various branches of the government toward the relief of financial conditions, a statement issued at the White House tonight declares that the series of steps taken "constitute a truly constructive effort for the amelioration of business and financial conditions."

It is asserted that there already are many evidences of beneficial effects, and that all indications point to a steady improvement of general business conditions.

The statement deals with the reduction of discount rates by federal reserve banks, the elimination of the system of progressive discount rates which caused high rates in some sections of the west, the inauguration by the treasury department of a new policy of refunding the short dated debt of the government by issuing three year notes, the resumption of active operations by the war finance corporation, the organization of a $50,000,000 live stock pool, the revival of operations by federal farm loan banks and the program for giving financial assistance to the railroads.

Reduction of Discount Rates.

The reduction of discount rates by federal reserve banks is referred to as perhaps the most important development.

"This action is calculated to relieve the stagnation of business, and at the same time it gives authoritative recognition of the improvement in credit conditions justifying the policy of reduced rates," says the statement. "During the latter part of 1919 and from time to time in the year 1920 increased rates of discount had been made by the federal reserve banks in order to meet then existing conditions.

"There had also been introduced in several reserve districts so called progressive discount rates, under which, after the member bank had discounted its paper with its federal reserve bank up to a certain point, it was then required to pay progressively higher rates for further discounts in order to check excessive borrowings. These rates have recently been entirely abolished, again indicating improved credit conditions.

More Improvements Promised.

"It is unsafe to prophesy concerning conditions in the future, but it may be expected that recognition will be given to further improvements in conditions in accordance with the dictates of sound banking practices.

"It will not have escaped attention that the rates of discount of the Bank of England have also been successively reduced, and that these reductions have been substantially coincident with the reductions in federal reserve rates in this country. This would appear to be a frank recognition of the intimate relation between the money markets in this country and of Europe, and a recognition as well of the improvement in world credit conditions. The importance of coincident reduction by these two leading banking systems lies chiefly in the fact that it indicates a mutual desire to reopen the international channels of credit upon which international trade depends."

Short Term Securities.

In commenting on the new policy of refunding the short dated debt, the statement says that the first offering of treasury notes under this policy met with an enthusiastic response and that a further development of the program should improve market conditions for government securities. It is stated that the market for all outstanding issues of short term government securities is in better shape than at any time since the business depression began.

Relative to the resumption of activities by the War Finance corporation, the statement points out that the corporation has now agreed to make advances to finance yearly 1,000,000,000 bales of cotton and that general assistance to foreign trade also is being extended.

Aid to Export Trade.

"The renewed activity of the War Finance corporation is not to be measured simply by the resultant restoration of confidence or by the amount of its advances," continues the statement. "Its intervention in aid of the export trade and in making advances to carry American agricultural products, pending or awaiting export, has been, according to many evidences received, an inspiring and heartening factor in the whole agricultural situation.

"Besides the loans actually undertaken many important transactions involving American agricultural products are under immediate consideration. An enlargement of the powers of the War Finance corporation has recently been recommended by the president to the congress in connection with financing of agricultural products."

FOREIGN NEWS —IN BRIEF—

LONDON.—Great Britain's latest note blames France for the Silesian controversy, which admittedly has reached an acute stage.

LANDIS BUILDING CODE RECEIVES DOUBLE PROTEST

Employers, Workers File Objections.

Judge K. M. Landis struck another snag yesterday in his attempt to settle the building trades controversy when the Building Construction Employers' association and the Chicago Building Trades council entered objections to suggested modifications of the uniform agreement under which the men are to resume work. All of the judge's suggestions were accepted by the associated builders.

Another obstacle to a settlement appeared when the Chicago Journeymen Plumbers' Protective and Benevolent association asked the judge for a hearing soon on their controversy with the steamfitters. The plumbers say the steamfitters claim work which belongs to them. The judge will probably hear this side of the question Monday or Tuesday.

Demand Conference Board.

The employers' association and the trades council have balked at the "scrapping" of the joint conference board by the terms Judge Landis suggested for the uniform agreement.

The joint conference board, it is claimed, is a worthy adjunct of the machinery of the Building Construction Employers' association and the Chicago Building Trades council to promote harmony in the construction field.

E. M. Craig, business manager of the employers' association, said he thought it would be a step backward to eliminate the board, as it has been of great service for the last eight years and will prove of value after the present agreements are effected.

Unions Enter Protest.

The Building Trades council entered a separate objection to the judge's suggestions on the clause on stoppage of work and penalties.

The clause as submitted by Judge Landis, they say, would deprive the journeymen of the right to assist each other, to enforce any decisions, or to protest against any nonunion conditions not covered by the agreement.

"As now worded by your honor, this section would simply mean that the various organizations affiliated with the Building Trades council would be denied the right of self-protection, and a condition would be created that would mean the gradual disruption of the Building Trades council, as well as the local unions themselves," the communication reads. "The organized labor movement, as constituted by the building trades, will have received a blow that will have set them back to conditions of generations ago if we accept this clause.

Would Reject Agreement.

"Organized labor at all times reserves the right to work or refuse to work with nonunion men, in any line of building construction, and we again reaffirm it is our belief that the membership at large of the respective locals would refuse to accept or live up to the agreement if so worded."

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.

Agreement was reached today between the senate and house conferees on the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled veterans. Prompt action is confidently expected.

Lord Northcliffe today denounced as a lie the statement of Lord Curzon that he did not direct the British embassy to boycott the publisher in Washington, and later cabled to the king's secretary denying he had given the interview quoting a conversation between his majesty and the prime minister, a repudiation of which by the king was read in the house of commons by Mr. Lloyd George.

Secretary of State Hughes in a letter to President Harding asserts the belief that the United States will eventually be allocated the former German cable from Guam to Yap.

Senator Penrose announced that the senate finance committee would decide its action on the question of American valuation before concluding hearings on the Fordney tariff bill. Hearings will be suspended next Tuesday for this purpose.

The house ways and means committee concluded hearings on tax legislation. Representatives of the motion picture and fur industries asked the repeal of the special taxes applying to them.

BRITAIN CHARGES SILESIA ROW TO FRENCH ACTION

New Note Brings Affair Nearer Break.

BULLETIN.

ROME, July 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The committee on foreign affairs of the chamber of deputies today decided to adhere to the British viewpoint of sending more troops to Upper Silesia prior to the meeting of the supreme council.

LONDON, July 29.—[By the Associated Press.]—The controversy between the British and French governments over Silesia has reached an acute stage, the latest British note, drafted by Earl Curzon, the foreign minister, indorsed by the imperial cabinet and handed the French government in Paris this morning, being officially described as a "vigorously worded" document.

The note ascribes the present situation to the presentation of the French note to Germany of July 14, calling the attention of the German government to the still menacing attitude of the German defense troops in Upper Silesia, without previous consultation with France's allies, the first departure from the policy of coöperation hitherto followed.

Speaks of British "Firmness."

The French government is reminded of the firmness with which Great Britain has always adhered to the principle of close coöperation and mutual consultations between the allied governments, and the note expresses surprise at the sudden change in attitude on the part of the French government, especially as early this week the principle of coöperation was emphasized and agreed to between Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, and the French ambassador, while following the incident of the occupation of Frankfort by the French in April, 1920, M. Millerand, then the premier, had given definite assurances that France would not in future take isolated action on matters of common concern to the allies.

Resents Tone of French Note.

The note likewise expresses surprise at the unusual and apparently unfriendly tone of the French communique of Wednesday last, which Great Britain, the note states, is loath to believe was meant to convey an unfriendly intention on the part of the French government.

Great Britain asked that the alliance, cemented by appalling sacrifices, be continued on the same lines of mutual trust and confidence, for the promotion of which Great Britain will make any concession to the French government and is ready as to do should the latter keep Great Britain fully cognizant of France's wishes.

On the principle of joint and responsibility for Silesia and other matters under the peace treaties, however, it is clearly impossible, the note continues, for Great Britain to agree to such acts as would inevitably predetermine the basis of the allies. In view of the perplexity raised by the tone of the last French note, the British government, the note states, feels bound to inquire what explanation of its intentions the French government can offer, as until the matter is cleared up it will be difficult to see on what basis the allied coöperation can continue.

PICTURESQUE AND STORMY LIFE OF R. E. BURKE ENDS

Silk Hatted Democracy's Chief Fights Last Fight.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

Robert Emmet Burke died yesterday at Michael Reese hospital—a picturesque figure of ancient standing makes its exit from the local political stage. A stormy and checkered career had Burke, one filled with vicissitudes.

Twenty and more years ago he was "boss" at the city hall, and was known far and wide as "O. K. Bobby." He was dispenser of favors and patronage and was called the "Richard Croker of Chicago" and "Napoleon of the County Democracy."

He had managed at least four mayoralty campaigns, was the friend of William Jennings Bryan, and in 1897 had been the "discoverer" of Carter H. Harrison, later five times mayor of Chicago. Then came fee scandals in the oil inspector's office, which Burke held, and the decline of the city "boss" began.

But Sticks in the Picture.

But stripped of real power in subsequent years, he managed to get into the picture. There was "Bobby" leading his silk hatted marchers through the great cities on the annual swings, a squat, pudgy figure with a twinkling eye and a persistent chuckle, who had to stretch a leg to keep up the pace led by "Cap" Farrell, the veteran marshal.

There was the picture of "Bobby" in Denver in 1908, trying to get his "recall" Democratic legionaries seated in the Democratic convention that nominated Bryan the last time he ran, and marching them up to Brown's Palace hotel behind a brass drum so big three strong-arms had to carry it.

Only Vote Against Wilson.

Another flash of the film in 1916 showed Burke at St. Louis, delegate-at-large from Illinois and the man who cast the solitary vote registered against the renomination of President Wilson. Another whirl of the screen and "Bob" in 1920 came within 4,000 votes of winning the Democratic nomination for United States senator in the September primaries.

And mixed in with all this, a succession of feuds—fights with "Jimmie" Quinn and scraps with the old "H-H" group (Hearst-Harrison) and scrimmages from time to time with factions that tried to pry him loose from the old County Democracy, of which for a quarter century he was secretary, but which a dozen years ago started to languish to the point where it became merely the name for little more than a collection of vintage silk hats and wrinkled black coats, with no voting power behind them. Surely, a checquered and picturesque career.

Mr. Burke was born in Chicago in 1858, and lived all his life within a stone's throw of his birthplace. In his younger days he was known as a ball player, and for some fifteen years he was a printer.

Manages Elder Harrison Campaign.

Along about 1889 he was chief clerk to the city attorney and in 1891 he became bailiff in Judge Adams' court. He became secretary of the Democratic county committee, and in 1893 ran the campaign of the elder Harrison, who rewarded him by making him city sealer and official headsman in the city hall. Burke then began to loom out as the local leader.

When it came time to nominate a candidate for mayor in 1897 Burke was supposed to be for John Barton Payne, just retiring from the bench. A few months ago, at Clark and Randolph streets, "Bob" stood on the corner and recounted the episode. His version was that Carter Harrison Jr. went to him and asked him to support Mr. Payne, incidentally asking what his own chances would be to get the appointment for controller.

Harrison at the time had no idea of running himself. In fact, the supposition in politics was that if a second generation Harrison were ever run for mayor it would be Carter's brother, Preston, who had accompanied his father on a prolonged globe trot. Burke mulled it over, and at the Jackson day banquet launched a boom for Carter Harrison. He got the nomination, Burke ran the campaign, and after the victory became the dictator at the hall.

"O. K. Burke" Becomes Famous.

Burke was appointed oil inspector, and for a period "O. K. Burke," scrawled on an application for a job or a letter for a favor, was as good as a certified check. In October, 1901, trouble broke out over the oil fees, and Burke was indicted. Before indictment "Bobby" turned over checks for $30,000 to "escrow" to Controller McGann to "cover any mistakes in the books." Judges Dunne, Kavanagh, and Brentano, sitting en banc, released Burke from the indictments. Later the Supreme court decided Burke could not recover the $30,000.

The years dragged along. "Bob" kept the County Democracy going. He had followers. Every Sunday afternoon there was a meeting with vaudeville embellishment. There were trips to outside cities by the marching club in full panoply of silk hats, long black coats, and tightly furled umbrellas or walking sticks.

It was surprising that an organization potentially so defunct could raise such a stir when it walked abroad—the hats did it. The great complaint of the boys on these jaunts used to be that the green peas at the banquets were most difficult to eat because they kept sliding off the knife.

Along in 1908 "Bob" fancied he could unhorse the Sullivan faction, which controlled the party, county and state. As a rich jest the Sullivanites, who had been lambasted from Helena to breakfast by Bryan at St. Louis in 1904, instructed the Illinois delegation for Bryan.

The Burkeites held "occult" conventions—not visible to the naked eye—and went to Denver behind what was called the biggest drum in the world, but the farthest they got was the anteachamber of the committee on credentials. Still, it was accounted a grand and glorious time.

EIGHT FIRE ROUTS FIFTEEN.

Fire in a two story frame building at the rear of 1323 Emma street early yesterday forced fifteen roomers and threatened surrounding structures. One woman jumped from the second floor, but escaped unhurt, and others ran out in their night garments. The loss was estimated at $2,000.

WHEN DEMOCRACY WAS IN FLOWER

Robert Emmet Burke, once "the Little Boss" of city hall, whom adversity eclipsed but could not drive from the political firmament, died yesterday. The photograph shows him with the "occult" delegates he led to the national convention in Denver in 1908, when Burke's power was waning in the Democratic party, which then controlled the city's destinies. The hatless man with the white beard at the left of the picture is Judge William Prentiss, who was once prominent in Democratic circles as a candidate for governor and mayor. Next to the judge stands the rotund figure of Burke, and the next four men (counting toward the right) are the late Fred Blocki, former commissioner of public works; Henry Carmody, M. W. Cagney (the man with a dark beard), and Judge Joseph S. La Buy of the Municipal court.

GUIDE TELLS OF FINDING WIDOW OF PURDUE CHIEF

Cries of Mrs. Stone Led to Rescue.

Banff, Alta., July 29.—Mrs. W. E. Stone, widow of the former president of Purdue university, is now in an improvised camp on the mountainside recovering from the experience of lying on a tiny ledge for eight days without food or water until rescued by Rammer, a Swiss guide, who carried her down the steep mountainside to safety. She told how she had watched her husband fall as they were attempting to climb Mount Eanon and then attempted to lower herself with the rope in the hope of rescuing him.

The rope, however, was too short, and, after hanging alongside the mountain and finding she was unable to pull herself back up, she let go, expecting to plunge to her death in the abyss below. Fate intervened and she landed on the narrow ledge, a drop of ten feet.

How She Was Found.

How Mrs. Stone was rescued is told by the Swiss guide. He scouted the mountain with field glasses, but could discern nothing. A woman's cry for help was then heard and with the aid of the glasses the figure of a woman was seen on a rock, but as there was a cañon between the party and this figure the voices of searchers would not carry to her and a revolver shot was fired. The first call heard by the searchers was the cry for help she had shouted every day.

A roundabout route to Mrs. Stone was then followed and she was reached in about an hour's time. She was at the bottom of a "chimney."

The Work of Rescue.

About 25 feet of rope was tied to a stone and the Swiss guide and another man lowered themselves into the "chimney." Their rope was tied securely to Mrs. Stone and the men went up with the exception of the Swiss guide, who stayed to steady the rope.

GOTHAM WIPED OUT BY PLANES IN MOCK BATTLE

New York, July 29.—New York and Washington today in theory were bombed off the map, following in the wake of Norfolk, Newport News, and Richmond. Philadelphia is due for a theoretical bombing Monday.

The fate of the various cities was made known today by Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service, when he stepped from his plane after leading three squadrons of seventeen bombers on an aerial "attack" against New York. A simultaneous attack on Washington by seventy machines had been ordered.

All these air raids are part of a war problem which army aviators are working out after having participated in the recent bombing of former German warcraft off the Virginia capes.

The planes which made New Yorkers stare aloft had arrived here after coming up the coast from Langley field, Virginia. After week-ending at Mineola air fields they will start the week right by swooping down on Philadelphia.

Although curious New Yorkers never knew it, thousands of them were slain, theoretically, and scarcely a building was left standing in the financial district. The aviators declared they had opened the way for a hostile force to steam into the harbor and seize the city.

DES MOINES TOLD STREET CARS MAY STOP ON MONDAY

Des Moines, Ia., July 29.—Federal Judge Martin J. Wade today handed down a memorandum warning all persons interested to be prepared for a general discontinuance of all street cars in Des Moines, Aug. 1, as requested by F. C. Chambats, receiver for the company.

Suspension is said by company attorneys to be due to the company's inability to operate under a 5 cent fare and under an 8 cent fare with unrestricted jitney competition. A. W. Harris of Chicago is one of the principal owners of the company.

CALLING OF DAIL EIREANN CERTAIN, DUBLIN BELIEVES

Court Officer Orders MacReady's Arrest.

DUBLIN, July 29.—[By the Associated Press.]—It now seems certain that the summoning of the "Irish republican parliament" to consider the British terms will be one of the next steps in connection with the peace negotiations.

Although this is not likely to occur immediately, no date having yet been fixed, the apparent fact that such a session has been decided upon encourages the hope here that the negotiations will prove fruitful.

No application has as yet been made for the release of the thirty-six members of the parliament who are still in prison, but the freeing of these men is declared to be certain once the date of the meeting is fixed.

Court Hits Military.

Writs of attachment calling for the apprehension of Gen Sir Nevil MacReady, commander of the British troops in Ireland, and Maj. Gen. Sir Edward P. Strickland, commander in Munster, were issued today by the master of the rolls.

Sergt. Hanna, attorney for Gen. MacReady and Gen. Strickland and also for the governor of Limerick jail, for whom a similar writ was issued, announced that a notice of an appeal against the decision of the master of the rolls would be lodged with the house of lords.

The case had its origin in the failure of those against whom the writs were issued to comply with proceedings in habeas corpus to produce John Egan, under sentence of death by a military court in Limerick, in court today.

Would Suspend Sentences.

Sergt. Hanna told the master of the rolls that he had been instructed by Gen. MacReady to give an undertaking that, pending a final hearing on the appeal, the sentences of death against Egan and another prisoner named Higgins would not be executed.

The master of the rolls, however, declined to listen to Sergt. Hanna. He declared the case represented deliberate contempt of court, unprecedented in the whole history of British law, and ordered the writs of attachment issued.

Uncertainty prevails here as to the next step in the case. Dublin is not under martial law, and it is therefore presumed that Gen. MacReady, who is now in London, and the others against whom the writs were issued are liable to arrest.

Oil and Gold Stampede Is On to Alaska Town

Anchorage, Alaska, July 29.—Reported discovery of what is said to be a high grade seepage of oil near Anchorage, with the indication that the field extends for fifty miles north along the government railroad, has sent a flood of stampeders into the district to stake claims.

A large area in the vicinity of the railroad has been staked with mining claims as a result of the discovery of gold in railroad cuts.

According to an apparently authentic report here an eighty foot quartz vein, assaying in the neighborhood of $500 to the ton, has been uncovered in the northern part of the California Creek district north of Anchorage.

CALLS REPRIEVE FOR WANDERER BLOW TO PUBLIC

Tried Fairly Twice, Coroner Says.

Delay in the execution of Carl Wanderer, who was reprieved by Gov. Small Thursday a few hours before he was to die on the gallows, was criticized severely last night by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman.

"If Carl Wanderer escapes the penalty of his crimes, the people of Cook county will receive a blow from which they will never recover and public officers will feel they might as well lie down on their jobs and quit," he declared.

"Think of Wanderer walking unconcernedly beside the wife he was to murder, two army pistols in his pockets. He murdered not only that wife, not only a starving wayfarer, perhaps an unsung hero of the great war whom Wanderer made a dupe, but also an unborn babe.

Treated Like Careless Child.

"Carl Wanderer's act was as black as any conceived in the mind of man, but he was treated as kindly as a careless child by officials. Never in all the 100,000 cases I have handled have I heard a confession more freely given than that of Wanderer. He charged that force was used. The worst I ever did against him was to shake my finger at him when I knew he was lying.

"The people of this community have been roused by this case and every man, woman, and child will feel the shame if Wanderer is successful in his attempts to cheat the law. Rumors that Wanderer will escape because he is a member of a certain fraternal order have been current. As a member of that order I wish to state that all the members want is that he gets the justice which he so richly deserves."

"Asking About Wife."

Coroner Hoffman's statement was made yesterday when rumors were again afloat that Wanderer, following his reprieve, was exhibiting symptoms of insanity.

Night Jailer William Holden said that Wanderer was quiet last night.

O'Leary Gambling Cases in City Court Dropped

Charges of gambling against James O'Leary, 4183 South Halsted street, and eighteen others, who were arrested by Chief Investigator Ben Newmark of the state's attorney's office and his squad two weeks ago, were nolle prossed in the South Clark street court yesterday after Judge John F. Haas had learned that indictments had been returned against them.

SOVIETS' REPLY SAID TO ACCEPT HOOVER'S OFFER

Willing to Free Yankee Prisoners at Once.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, July 29.—The soviets are preparing an answer to Secretary of Commerce and Labor Hoover thanking him for his offer to care for a million children, declaring their willingness to free American prisoners immediately. The most reliable sources say the Russian answer will contain minor provisions seeking counter concessions, such as release of certain "political prisoners in American jails."

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

WARSAW, July 29.—[By Wireless.]—With the United States waiting at the door, the bolshevik rulers of soviet Russia are in a desperate struggle to avert widespread starvation and to hold their power.

The plight of Russia is causing profound alarm throughout Poland. Already Budenny with his 60,000 wild and undisciplined Tartars and Cossacks has suddenly been moved into White Russian along the Polish frontier. Even the soviet armies are beginning to feel the shortage of food.

Fear by Poles.

"Poland is in mortal danger of another Russian invasion—an invasion by a mass of starving humanity which will sweep over the border like a pack of hungry wolves invading a lonely village in winter," today said one of the best informed Poles, his voice breaking with emotion.

"Reports from Russia would seem incredible did we not possess so many proofs of their truth. All central Russia is starving. There has been a great drought and the very ground is dried up. The most conservative reports state that the harvest will not last the country population for more than two months. What the city people will do for food no man can say.

Dream of Utopia Forgotten.

The complete failure of this year's harvest in Russia has caused all dreams of a Utopian workingman's state to be forgotten in the cry for bread. Only the iron discipline of the Communist party is holding up the bolsheviki rule. Even this discipline is beginning to weaken.

The soviets' official newspaper in Moscow, Isvestya, bares the government's plight in a combined plea and threat to the bolsheviki:

"Russia will have absolutely no harvest this year. The peasants are reduced to despair, mowing unripe corn and fleeing panic stricken before death by starvation; many are dying of cholera and typhus.

Decline of Production.

"Besides the intense dissatisfaction of the peasants there is greater unrest among the workmen, who have been starving even when the harvests were good and the villages had corn. This causes a decline of production—inability to keep factories going, bad work, and the breakdown of all economic plans and projects. Interior conditions now have become deplorable.

"Even in the Communist party we perceive a failing courage as a result of the immense tasks. Many imagine we cannot cope with the misfortune which has fallen the country, resulting in frequent desertions of the faint hearted. Now hard work and stern order are needed to bring the people to their senses and to reëstablish order from the state of chaos.

"It has been proven in the army that the strongest nerves win.

"All wars are not alike. Civil war is a hundred times worse than international wars. The war against Emperor Famine is the most terrible and the most difficult of all. Now, more than ever, the soviets must guard their outposts and overcome the enemy without the slightest hesitation or trembling."

QUAKERS PLAN RELIEF

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, July 29.—American and British Quaker relief workers have conferred with Maxim Gorky for the relief of famine stricken Russia, according to advices just received here from Moscow.

The German labor unions and the socialist parties have decreed that every member give one day's pay for the relief of Russia. Germany's part in the relief work is under official sanction despite the monarchists' declarations that no aid must be given until the monarchy is reëstablished in Russia.

RUSSIA WANTS PEACE.

RIGA, July 29.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Russian population is tired of bloodshed and counter revolutions and wants a more moderate form of soviet government, according to Emerson P. Jennings, president of the American Commercial Association for the Promotion of Trade with Russia, who has returned to Riga after spending six months in Moscow.

Mr. Jennings said that he probably had lost more through his operations with Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, former soviet "ambassador" to the United States, than any other American manufacturer trying to deal with Russia, but nevertheless he still thought it advisable to open trade relations with Russia.

5,000 TONS FLOUR.

New York, July 29.—The purchase for the Russian soviet government of more than 5,000 tons of flour from mills in New York state and the middle west was announced here today by the American Producers Export corporation.

KIDNAPED IRISH WIDOW SHOT AS SPY NEAR CORK

LONDON, July 29.—[By the Associated Press.]—Mrs. J. W. Lindsay, widow of a Cork land owner, who was kidnaped from her home in Coachford in February last by three armed men, was executed as a spy, according to information revealed this evening by the Dail Eireann authorities.

The announcement of the kindaping of Mrs. Lindsay was contained in a London dispatch of Feb. 18 last. Her house, a large country estate, was burned. The supposition was advanced that Sinn Feiners were responsible, having been suspicious that Mrs. Lindsay had given information to the police concerning ambuscades.

In March Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Peter Strickland received a letter from Mrs. Lindsay, saying:

"Dear Sir Peter: I am told that two more men of the Dripsey ambush, Dennis Murphy and James Barrett, are to be tried tomorrow. Will you please, for my sake, spare these men. I beg of you to do so, and if the men are spared I shall be allowed to go home, and if not I cannot say what will be my fate."

Nothing had been heard of Mrs. Lindsay since this letter was written.

CHARGE DIAMOND SMUGGLING PLOT; JEWELER SEIZED

U. S. After $50,000 Gems Here.

Another clew to what is believed to be a nation-wide gang of smugglers was obtained yesterday by William H. Williams, special agent of the treasury department, when he arrested Hyman Finerman, a jeweler of Los Angeles, Cal. It was the second arrest in two days.

Finerman was taken into custody at the request of officials in Washington, who have been following the operations of the smugglers. Unset diamonds valued at $1,800 were found in his possession. He admitted he had smuggled the jewels into the United States. He said he was not able to pay the duty.

Held in $2,000 Bond.

Finerman had a through ticket to California when arrested and was waiting at the station for the train. He was held to the grand jury in bonds of $2,000 by Commissioner James R. Glass.

Mr. Williams said he had definite information on the location of $50,000 worth of jewelry which was brought into the United States by smugglers. This he expects to seize within a few days.

Diamonds Are Seized.

Thursday Mr. Williams took two diamonds, each weighing nine carats and valued at $10,000, from the safe of the Sandack Jewelry company at 52 West Madison street. These gems were said to have been smuggled into this country from Canada by Alexander Cash, a rabbi living in Toronto.

GUN TOTER GETS YEAR IN JAIL.

A fine of $100 and a term of one year in the house of correction was imposed yesterday on Harry Bennett, 37 years old, 1537 East 55th street, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and disorderly conduct.

BICKERING ENDS, CONGRESS ACTS TO HELP HEROES

Sweet Bill to Harding in a Few Days.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—The time killing bickering over the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled veterans came to an end today. Complete agreement between the senate and house conferees was announced after days of unexplainable delay.

The conference agreement will be reported to the house Monday. Prompt ratification is expected, and favorable action by the senate probably will follow immediately. Unless some entirely unexpected obstacle intervenes the measure in all likelihood will be in President Harding's hands by the middle of next week. In the main the conference agreement was a victory for the senate.

Senate Wins Its Points.

The chief point of difference between the two houses was the senate amendment making the proposed veterans' bureau an entirely independent institution, responsible directly to the President. The amendment was retained, the house conferees agreeing to it with considerable reluctance.

Another important point scored by the senate conferees was the retention of the Walsh amendment designed to liberalize the government's policy in the treatment of tubercular and mental cases among ex-service men. Under the Walsh amendment claimants suffering from tuberculosis or mental disorders will be presumed to have contracted their disability in line of duty if the disease developed within two years after their discharge from service. In other words, they will no longer be required to await compensation until they can produce long lists of affidavits to prove the service origin of their disability.

Vocational Training Board Stays.

The house conferees won out in their fight against abolishing the vocational training board as proposed by a senate amendment. As the amendement stands now, only those functions of the vocational training board having to do with ex-service men will be merged with the veterans' bueau. The conferees also decided to leave the work of hospital construction in the hands of the supervising architect of the treasury department, where it is now.

The special senate committee investigating the neglect of disabled veterans brought its hearings to a close temporarily and will begin at once the preparation of a partial report to submit to the senate in response to the Walsh resolution.

Improved Conditions Likely.

In view of the immense volume of testimony seldom contradicted, given before the committee regarding the inadequate care and treatment of ex-service men, the report in all probability will contain a scathing arraignment of conditions, many of which, however, undoubtedly will be improved rapidly under the Sweet bill. The committee probably will continue in existence for some time, keeping an eye on conditions, with a view to calling attention to matters which demand remedy from time to time.

Maj. Thomas F. Murphy of Brookline, Mass., former head of the war risk office at Boston, was the principal witness today. He charged that there is "too much politics" in the war risk bureau.

group of Washington correspondents who have seen journalistic service overseas, he called upon Secretary Hughes and then joined the correspondents on their afternoon rounds.

With them he went to the press conference with President Harding, where he thanked the President for permitting him to come, and going on afterward to the capitol, where he visited the press galleries of the senate and house.

Tonight he was entertained at dinner at Friendship by Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, whose guests included all those previously invited to the embassy dinner originally planned for last night, several cabinet officers and others high in official and diplomatic circles, as well as members of resident society.

KING DENIES REMARKS

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 29.—A tremendous sensation has been caused in London by publication here of an interview with Lord Northcliffe secured by the New York Times and other New York papers in which he is said to have declared that King George forced Prime Minister Lloyd George to initiate the present move for Irish peace.

The interview was cabled to the Times and the Daily Mail by the New York correspondent of these papers last Monday night. It was killed by the Times, but got into the early Irish edition of the Mail.

Today Mr. Lloyd George read a statement by the king in the house of commons categorically denying the truth of the statement and gave Lord Northcliffe a verbal trouncing.

Text of Royal Message.

The royal statement follows:

"His majesty the king has had his attention directed to certain statements reported in an interview with Lord Northcliffe which appeared in the Daily Mail and was reproduced in the Daily Express and some Irish newspapers.

"These statements are complete fabrications. No such conversation as the one alleged took place nor were any such remarks as those alleged made by his majesty.

"His majesty, therefore, desires to make it quite clear, as the contrary is suggested in the interview, that in his speech at the opening of the Northern Irish parliament he followed the invariable constitutional practice of reading his speech from the throne in parliament."

Premier Adds Criticism.

Following the reading of this message, Mr. Lloyd George said:

"I hope this statement may do something to sterilize the effect of criminal malignity which, for personal ends, is endeavoring to stir up mischief between the allies and create misunderstanding between the British empire and the United States and to frustrate the hope for peace in Ireland."

J. H. Thomas, Laborite, and Sir Donald MacLean, Liberal, associated themselves with the premier in denunciation of Lord Northcliffe and praise for the king's constitutional attitude.

Gen. Jan Smuts, in an interview, said the reference attributed here to Lord Northcliffe, that "the king got him interested in the Irish situation," is "without a foundation of truth."

MARKED CARDS AT CONFERENCE TABLE BARRED

U. S. Will Not Permit Any Early Parleys.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—President Harding and Secretary Hughes will not listen to pleas from any source that there be held a preliminary conference on reduction of armaments and far eastern problems.

The administration determined today to take a firm stand in the face of many unofficial reports, emanating particularly from Great Britain, that efforts would be made to bring about a conference in advance of the main conference in order to accommodate the British dominion premiers, who are greatly interested in the outcome of the discussions.

The president and his secretary of state know that any such preliminary conference, whether justly or unjustly, would be regarded with suspicion by the world and particularly by some of the powers which might not be represented at the preliminary discussion.

No Whispering Parley.

They insist that nothing shall occur between now and the time for the conference to be called by the President which could be construed as an attempt to frame up an agenda or to determine the scope of the discussions in secret.

Much embarrassment arose at Versailles over just that thing, the practice of representatives of some of the great powers getting their heads together and determining what should be done.

"There must be no international caucus as a preliminary to the general conference on peace and disarmament."

That, in brief, is the attitude of the United States, and it has put its foot down hard on everything that might have the appearance of such a caucus.

The president and Mr. Hughes understand the position of the British premiers and their interest in far eastern questions. They appreciate the difficulties that confront them in getting to the United States in November because of their home affairs and are willing to do everything that can be done to accommodate them.

Glad to Hear Premiers.

The suggestion has been made that the dominion premiers, while en route home from England stop in Washington for informal talks with the President and the secretary of state. There would be no objection to that. Free interchanges of ideas in advance of the conference are to be encouraged by the Washington government, and anything that the British premiers may want to say will be received gladly.

What the President wants to do and proposes to do now that the conference is assured is to discuss freely with all the powers invited to participate the agenda for the conference. That will be done in such a way that all of the powers will know what is going on. There will be no secrets. Suggestions made by one nation will be communicated to all the others, and in this open manner the President believes a common understanding regarding the scope of the conference can be arrived at with a minimum of friction and a maximum of harmony and mutual good will.

Looks to Armistice Day.

President Harding today expressed himself as delighted over the progress of affairs relating to the forthcoming international conclave. The exact date has not been fixed and will not be until all the powers have been consulted. The President still thinks that Nov. 11, Armistice day, is the best guess for the beginning of the conference, but says that he will not pit sentiment against the convenience of the invited nations in the matter.

Matters of personnel are still in abeyance. Asked today if there was any chance for a woman to be a member of the American delegation, the President let it be known that he regarded the question as a very important and appropriate one, but that he could not answer it now.

Two Car Service Started for Pageant of Progress

Two car train service was inaugurated by the Chicago Surface Lines yesterday in connection with augmented facilities provided for Pageant of Progress crowds. Three of these trains, each seating 102 passengers, were operated on the Grand avenue line direct to the Municipal pier as the forerunner of the 100 trailers now beginning to come from the manufacturer. The Surface Lines management has been arranging pageant transportation facilities on a scale second only to those provided for the world's fair. "We are prepared to handle the pageant visitors at the rate of 36,000 an hour," said President Henry A. Blair.

Another $100,000 Fund Planned for Mme. Curie

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—With a belated gift of $1,529 from Chicago women, the Marie Curie radium fund, it was announced today, is more than $60,000 oversubscribed. The latest gift was received from Mrs. Edward Dwight Pomeroy, treasurer of the American Association of University Women at Chicago.

The $60,000 is held in a bank here awaiting completion of another fund of $40,000, the $100,000 to be used for a vast fund for Mme. Curie. At her death the income will be given to American students in chemistry and physics at the Sorbonne.

The "De Witt Clinton" will be exhibited at the Pageant of Progress. Built and first operated in 1831, it arrived in Chicago yes-terday with "Old 999" of the New York Central, which twenty-eight years ago set the world speed record of 112 1-2 miles an hour, as its escort.* [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Fighter Buys Two Tons of Ice for Fund.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

A lot of former service men who have been walking the streets looking for a job and sometimes for something to eat will tell you that Danny Goodman is a friend in need. He welcomes them all at his little restaurant, at Harrison and Dearborn. Yesterday, when he read that THE TRIBUNE Free Ice fund was lagging somewhat in contributions, he sent in his check for $16 to buy two tons of ice for the poor mothers and children of Chicago.

Danny is the champion contender for the lightweight boxing championship of the world, having fought for it ten years or more. He was boxing instructor at Camp Grant during the war.

Twelve Crowded Hours to Mark Pageant Debut Today

Following is today's detailed program—twelve crowded hours of thrills—for the inaugural of the Pageant of Progress exposition on the Municipal pier:

9:30 a. m.—The Santa Maria, largest passenger plane in the world, will fly over the pier announcing the exposition will open at 10 o'clock, at which time Vice President Calvin Coolidge, in Washington, will press a button ringing large bells on the pier. This announcement will be made by wireless telephone connecting the plane with a big Magnavox amplifier on top of the west head house of the pier.

10:00 a. m.—Vice President Coolidge will officially open the exposition by pressing a button connected to large bells on the pier. Whistles will be blown by every factory and railroad steam engine in the city and many church bells will ring. One hundred and fifty aerial bombs will be fired from different sections of the city. The jackies from Great Lakes will fire five pieces as the signal for the opening of more than three and one-half miles of exhibits showing one thousand different displays. All bands will play "America" and follow with the official Chicago song.

Huge Parade a Feature.

11:45 a. m.—Parade will start from Michigan boulevard and 12th street. Homing pigeons from Washington will be released by Mayor Thompson as his car turns from Michigan into Jackson boulevard. These pigeons will carry a message of greeting to President Harding and other federal officials. Foot bands will wheel out of the parade at Ohio street and Lake shore drive, enter the exposition grounds, and march into the Municipal pier. The various pageant queens on floats will wheel out of the parade at Ohio street and Lake Shore drive and be driven through the exposition on forty new automobiles. They will proceed to the pier auditorium, where they will pass in review before the judges during the afternoon.

2:00 p. m.—American River Marathon swimming race for the William Hale Thompson cup, under the auspices of the Illinois Athletic club. Prizes awarded by the regatta committee of the Pageant of Progress exposition. Races will start from northwest corner of pier. From there the contestants will pass before the grandstand on the north side of the pier, circle the east end of the pier, enter the Chicago river, and finish at the Wells street bridge. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, representing President Harding, will deliver an address in the pier auditorium during the afternoon.

SHIP ENGINEER SLAIN BY AIDS, THROWN IN SEA

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.—News that Frank McCauley, 35 years old, chief engineer of the steamer Patrick Henry of the Diamond Steamship company, had been lost overboard from his vessel was received by wireless tonight by his father, Capt. Con McCauley, a veteran lake mariner. McCauley is believed to have been stabbed and thrown overboard by four of his subordinates whom he had put in chains recently.

Only the bare facts that Mr. McCauley had been lost overboard on July 18 and that murder was suspected were contained in the dispatch received by Capt. McCauley, but recent letters received by the victim's fiancée, Miss Rose Hansen, said he was having trouble with four of the crew members, and declared he feared they would attack and kill him at the first opportunity.

SONNY DUNN AND STOLEN LIQUOR TAKEN IN TAXI

William "Sonny" Dunn, erstwhile much wanted gunman, was arrested late Thursday night by Patrolman John Clausen for burglary of the Yards pharmacy, 4163 South Halsted street, and the purloining therefrom of ten cases of liquor.

Dunn was traveling south on Halsted street at a high rate of speed in a gray taxicab driven by Sam Sparling, 1216 South Spaulding street, when sighted by Clausen. Clausen ordered the driver to stop. He did.

Dunn climbed from the cab and wrapped his arms about the policeman. "Awfully glad to see you," he remarked as he put his arms around Clausen's neck. Then Dunn shouted to the driver: "Beat it with the evidence!"

Spirling did. He was captured later. Both were locked up.

MARKET CLEANUP STARTS DESPITE ELLER'S PROTEST

Stands Are Ordered Down by Tonight.

In spite of strenuous attempts by Morris Eller, Lundin-Thompson leader in the Twentieth ward, to prevent it, the long delayed cleanup of the Maxwell street market began yesterday.

After a six weeks' fight by Ald. Fick, Franz, and Brieske to oust nearly 250 streets and sidewalks with the approval of Louis Krackow, city superintendent of the market and one of Eller's closest friends, the tearing down of the buildings commenced under orders of Superintendent of Streets Byrne.

The orders direct that the stands be down by tonight. Many of the stand owners, confident that "Morrie will fix it," refused to begin the razing yesterday.

Meanwhile Mr. Eller was busy at the city hall trying to get an extension of the forty-eight hours allowed for the removal work. He visited H. J. Haenisch, superintendent of the city compensation bureau, but Mr. Haenisch was out. He sought Commissioner of Public Works Francis and his assistant, William Burkhardt. They were at the Municipal pier. Superintendent of Streets Byrne was also "out," and Mr. Eller's efforts to get permission for his friends to operate over Sunday, the market's busiest day, were fruitless.

Assistant Superintendent of Streets P. Q. Rohm announced that the bureau "is going through with these orders."

Inspectors supervising the cleanup—the first in five years—admitted that they expected a cancellation order from the city hall as the result of Mr. Eller's efforts.

Derby's $700,000 Left to Widow, 2 Children

The will of William M. Derby Jr., real estate man, 4159 Kimbark avenue, disposing of an estate valued at $700,000, was filed yesterday before Paul Corkell, assistant to Probate Judge Horner. Mr. Derby died June 30. The first provision in his will is a bequest of $2,000 for his private secretary, Elfrieda Kaule. The rest of the estate is to be put in trust, and $200 a month paid to his sister, Frances D. Cleave, 1225 Hyde Park boulevard. The rest of the income is to go in equal portions to his widow, Mrs. Mary Ballard Derby; his daughter, Dorothy, and his son, William Ballard Derby.

IRISH CHAMPION TO DANCE.

One of the features at the Irish picnic Sunday, Aug. 7, at Gaelic park, 47th and South California avenue, will be a jig and reel contest in which Paul Dillon, a noted Irish clog dancer, will meet all comers. He is the champion dancer of Ireland.

ASKS CONVICTION OF 'BLACK SOX' ON THEIR OWN STORY

Confessions Only Evidence Needed, State Says.

Confessions made by Eddie Cicotte, "Lefty" Williams, and Joe Jackson that they had plotted to throw games in the 1919 world's series were held up yesterday by the state as the most convincing proof the defendants in the "Black Sox" trial should be sent to the penitentiary.

In his opening argument to the jury, begun at noon, Assistant State's Attorney Edward Prindeville declared the state did not have to convict the ball players—that they in reality had convicted themselves.

"What more convincing proof do you want than the statements made by the players?" he asked. "Jackson, Cicotte, and Williams sold out the American public for a paltry $20,000. They collected the money, but they could not keep quiet.

"Consciences Hurt Them."

"Their consciences would not let them rest. When the scandal broke they sought out the state's attorney's office and made their confessions voluntarily. Cicotte told his story to Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald. Then he told it to the grand jury. He was followed to the grand jury room by Williams and Jackson.

"On evidence which they told the jurors 'Bill' Burns, the state's star witness in this case, was indicted. They have called Burns, who told his story to the jury, a squawker. But I tell you that he owes his connection in the case to what these defendant ball players confessed to."

Declares Public Swindled.

"This is an unusual case, as it deals with a class of men who are involved in the great national game, which all red-blooded men follow," Mr. Prindeville continued. "This game, gentlemen, has been made the subject of a crime. The public, the club owners, and even the small boy playing on the sand lots have been swindled. That is why these defendants are charged with conspiracy.

"This conspiracy started when Eddie Cicotte told Burns in New York city that if the White Sox won the pennant there was something on and he would let him in on it. The next step was when Chick Gandil and Cicotte told Burns they would throw the series for $100,000.

Statements Are Corroborated.

"Burns told you that Cicotte said 'I will throw the first game if I have to throw the ball over the fence.' Cicotte told you the same thing. All the way through you will find Cicotte's statements are corroborated by Burns and vice versa."

Mr. Prindeville finished the first half of his argument yesterday. He will complete his address this morning and court will be adjourned until Monday. Each side has ten hours of argument, so it is not expected that the case will be given to the jury before Tuesday evening.

ONE DIVORCE IS PLENTY; SUIT OF MRS. GOULD LOST

New York, July 29.—The New York Supreme court today recognized a divorce obtained in a French court by Frank Jay Gould, wealthy sportsman.

Justice Mullan dismissed a divorce action brought by Mrs. Edith Kelly Gould, declaring she had defended her husband's suit in France and had had her full day in court.

Among the records submitted to the court were those of police court proceedings in a French department wherein it was stated Mrs. Gould had admitted infidelity after a raid on her dwelling.

The decree leaves Mr. Gould free to carry out his intention of marrying Florence Lascaz, the Parisian beauty, to whom, dispatches last May said, he was engaged.

WANTED

An Unusual Sales Executive

ONE of our clients, an international sales organization, is now seeking a General Sales Manager. He must be a man who can slip into the American division of this organization, and without friction tactfully coordinate and manage the sales force and various sales departments of an already highly developed business.

This institution is world famous, selling various lines of merchandise to department stores and specialty shops, both in this country and abroad.

One of the problems that will confront this Sales Manager will be to devise plans of extending the sales work to other markets and of broadening the channels of trade already open.

The man we want is probably employed at present by a large corporation, but believes that he is fitted for bigger things than the development his present job can offer.

The man who can measure up to the required standards will have free rein in organizing and directing the American sales efforts.

His future as to salary and position is entirely in his own hands, his compensation will be in keeping with the calibre of the man and his development of the job.

In the main he must have

1—Executive sales experience
2—Unusual organizing ability
3—Broad vision
4—Tact
5—Above all, enthusiasm.

If you believe you are the man to develop this unusual opportunity, write us fully about yourself, your experience, past record and earning capacity.

You may write in the full assurance that your application will be kept in strict confidence. A personal appointment will be arranged at the proper time.

THE CHANGING CITY.

The day was, not many years ago in Chicago, when a boulevard was a thing of beauty rather than a thing of use. In those days it was a wide, quiet street, shaded with trees for the most part, and carefully parked, cleaned, and tended. It was an ideal place for homes, away from the noise, dirt, and congestion of traffic, and with just enough movement of horses and carriages to make it interesting.

With the development of automobiles all that has changed. Today a boulevard is a thoroughfare of traffic, almost as noisy as a railroad right of way. The attractiveness and value of such streets for residence purposes has been impaired. In place of such value we have the value of a wide, smooth thoroughfare for automobile traffic safe from the danger of interruption of cross currents of traffic. Every person who has attempted to drive through the city along a street unprotected by boulevard traffic regulations realizes the value of the arrangement.

Why should not these facts be taken into consideration in city planning and in the development of traffic routes which would relieve congestion on the present boulevards and speed up local automobile transportation without increasing danger? It is not necessary to restrict through automobile routes to the present boulevard system. For the sake of convenience the city might well be checkerboarded with through automobile thoroughfares in parallel or radiating lines. Any through street could be set aside for such purpose and subjected to the same restrictions against cross traffic or incoming traffic now applied to the boulevard system.

In this way we might develop from two to half a dozen lines running north and northwest, the same running west, and similar traffic arteries running south, southeast, and southwest, which would relieve the present congestion on South Michigan avenue, Sheridan road, and Roosevelt road. Such an arrangement would not only help to restore the boulevards to something like their original attractiveness for residence purposes but would make outlying sections more available for residence purposes, would open rights of way for public bus traffic, and would relieve congestion on "L" and surface lines.

This is a practical day. The speed of the automobile gives its passengers comparatively little opportunity to enjoy the beauties of a boulevard. Their chief enjoyment is in the smooth roadway and in swift, uninterrupted progress to their destination. This can be achieved as well upon a street not parked and tree lined as upon one which is. Improved transportation is a vital factor in the growth of any large city. Development of adequate traffic routes seems a simple way to help solve the problem. Chicago has a number of such routes. It might easily have more.

A glance at the map in an adjacent column reveals the present condition and the opportunities. The heavy black lines show the present boulevard system. They show that there is only one through and unrestricted route for automobile traffic to the north and virtually only one to the south, though this is improved for the distance where Grand and Drexel boulevards are parallel. Far to the west we have the boulevard connecting the outer parks and supplemented for short distances by Oakley and Independence boulevards. East and west we have Marquette, Garfield, Jackson, Washington, and Diversey, supplemented slightly by the Midway, Hyde Park, Oakwood, and Roosevelt road.

But north of Diversey parkway all the way to the city limits there is no through east and west route unrestricted for automobile traffic. A great and attractive residence section is made difficult of access from or to the lake. The long stretch from Diversey to Washington is similarly handicapped. To the south of Marquette boulevard there are no adequate routes either north and south west of the South Shore drive or east and west.

The doubled lines on the map show general suggestions for the improvement of this condition. Development of such routes would open to easy automobile access vast areas of the city, would relieve street car and "L" congestion, and add materially to the advantages and development of the city. The boulevard along the drainage canal would tap the southwest much as Elston avenue taps the northwest. It is a subject worthy of careful consideration in the general development of Chicago.

THE NAVY'S VALUE LIES NOT ALONE IN WAR.

Admiral Kato's statement on the Japanese naval program and policy, approved by Premier Hara and handed to a TRIBUNE correspondent, concludes with the assertion that the framers of the Japanese "8 and 8" program did not have in mind any foreign country as a probable enemy. They considered simply that our financial ability permitted us to build the 8 and 8 squadrons and maintain them, by which this island empire should be defended "against any emergencies arising in the far east alone."

This statement, taken at its face value, still allows of belief in the thought attributed to Japanese leaders to the effect that the chief value of Japan's navy lies in its influence in negotiating alliances. In that idea we have another illustration of the depth and shrewdness of Japanese diplomacy. By development of a navy of the power indicated Japan may not be able to equip itself for an offensive war against any first class power, but if it can make itself valuable to an ally or potential ally it will in this way arrange to defend itself "against any emergencies arising in the far east."

The navy under this policy becomes a support to the diplomatic service, a medium of diplomatic trade and barter, of much greater potential value to the empire than its actual value as a weapon of defense or offense. If, for instance, the possession of such a navy makes it possible for Japanese diplomats to negotiate an advantageous alliance with Great Britain, the battleships would never have to be called into active service to justify the expense of construction and maintenance.

This is a point which we in America would do well to consider and profit by in our own diplomatic labors. It ought to be sufficient to silence those pacifists and self-styled altruists who insist that the United States ought to disarm, "by agreement if possible, but as an example if necessary." We, as well as Japan, need a powerful navy and a potentially powerful military equipment to strengthen our hand and to assist us in international negotiations by convincing our international conferees that it will pay them to retain our friendship and endanger them to sacrince it.

For that reason President Harding was right in supporting a large naval appropriation, while at the same time expressing himself in favor of peace and decreased expenditures. For the same reason the matter of bringing American troops home from the Rhine ought to be left in the hands of the President, not hampered by congressional advice. For that reason Secretary of War Weeks' instructions to Gen. Pershing to employ all the available resources of the military establishment to develop the national guard and reserve corps into effective forces are a subject for congratulation.

With such cards in our hand, and with a united public opinion devoted to the best interests of America behind our representative at the coming conference, we may hope for some advantage from the parleys.

WHAT OUR TAX BOOST MEANS.

The Civic Federation's report on tax raising activities of the recent legislative session asserts that taxpayers may look for an average boost of more than 40 per cent in their bills next year. The report might well emphasize the point that not only direct taxpayers but every resident of Chicago may look for an attendant boost in their bills.

Thoughtless or indifferent citizens who do not own real estate or a taxable amount of personal property are inclined to look with indifference upon taxation as a well merited medium of squaring accounts with their more well-to-do neighbors. They are glad to see a large portion of the income from an apartment building, home or office building taken away from the owner in the form of taxes on the theory that it tends to equalize the owner's financial position with their own.

That is an error. The sciences of finance and economics do not work out in that way. Every citizen in the community contributes to the payment of taxes, directly or indirectly. Those who look with indifference today upon the increase in taxes to be paid next year because of inefficiency, extravagance or political purposes of the administration which has authorized these increases will personally feel the weight of that burden when they come to sign new leases for their homes or apartments, when they go to the butcher, baker, or grocer, when they buy a new suit of clothes, a new pair of shoes, or a new easy chair for the living room.

Taxes are part of the fixed overhead charges against business. They must be passed on by the property owner or business man to his customers in the form of higher rent or higher prices for supplies. A bum on West Madison street, the head of a large family on Maxwell street, the owner of a cottage in Ravenswood, and the resident of a Lake Shore drive mansion must each pay a part of this increased taxation.

It will be included in rent, in food, clothing, in recreation and in doctors' bills. It cannot be escaped. When each individual is moved to protest against profiteers he or she should remember that one of the reasons for the apparently exorbitant prices is the high tax rate. Not until the entire public realizes this fact can we hope for such an intelligent interest in politics and government as will put into office and keep there honest men pledged to give economy with efficiency in government, and capable of doing so. When such men are elected local taxes will go down and the cost of living will go down with them.

WHY NOT CHICAGO?

The governments of the United States, Great Britain and Japan will in all probability hold a preliminary conference on Pacific questions. The British at first suggested it be held at London but that has been virtually given up. They would doubtless like to have it sit at Montreal. The Japanese it is understood have objected to Washington or elsewhere in our eastern states. They certainly would object to San Francisco or any west coast town in the United States or Canada.

Remains Chicago.

Chicago is not inflamed on the Japanese question. It is not a political capital like London, Washington or Montreal. It has facilities of telegraphic, radiographic and railroad communication unsurpassed, if not in fact unequaled, by any world center. Its autumn climate is delightful. It has fine public buildings and luxurious hotels for the accommodation of a conference of any size.

In short, Chicago is the ideal place for the preliminary conference—or for the main conferences, for that matter.

A DESPERATE CASE.

[The Weekly Review.]

So many, many things, according to our revolutionary diagnosticians, are the matter with us as a people that recovery seems impossible. We read the long catalogue of distressing symptoms and wonder how the sufferer can live through the night. Especially sweeping and pessimistic are the diagnoses of the younger set. No dubieties cloud their sanguine certitude. Thou allest here and here, they say; and so little they leave untouched that one doubts if any spot be free from the general infection. Puritanism is a cancerous growth on the social body that ought long ago to have been removed by the knife. The professors are a pimply rash that ought to be rubbed out with sandpaper moistened with vinegar. Capitalism, herdism, Main Streetism, and a hundred other wasting diseases prey upon the vitals of the patient, and hourly his condition grows worse. The bedside bulletins give small warrant for hope. Yet who is there that has not heard of instances wherein the most desperately ailing patient, abandoned by his doctors, has all at once begun to mend and has subsequently issued forth whole and happy? So we do not lose hope. If we can only induce the doctors to lay off for a time, we think that the natural vitality of the patient, which has stood him in good stead these many years, will win out.

CONVERSATION WITHOUT WORDS.

["These literary giants passed the whole evening smoking in profound silence, which was broken only by the request to 'pass the tobacco.' When near midnight Emerson rose to go Carlyle grasped him by the hand and said, 'Mon, we've had a fine time! It has been the happiest evening I have ever spent.'"]

The above, taken from an advertisement of tobacco, is an example of how an historic incident suffers from abbreviation. What actually occurred after the two were seated at 8:55 was as follows:

9:05—Emerson. This is a dreary spot. (Aloud) Pass the tobacco.
Carlyle. Aweel, it was your ain daft idea.
9:30—Carlyle (as the clock strikes). It'll be a weary time till midnight. (Aloud) Pass the tobacco.
10:05—Emerson. I wish I hadn't come. (Aloud) Pass the tobacco.
Carlyle (passing it with a jerk). I wish ye hadna.
10:30—Emerson (thoughtfully). A strange dryness of the throat is caused by continuous smoking.
Carlyle. Dinna smoke sae conteenuously then.
11:00—Emerson. I wonder if Scotch whisky mixes well with soda-water?
Carlyle (aloud and very distinctly). Pass the tobacco.
Emerson (with sudden ferocity). You have a coarse, common, unintelligent type of features.
Carlyle. And ye hae—— But ye are my guest.
11:30—Emerson. Only half-an-hour more.
Carlyle (smiling for the first time that evening). Ay, ay, laddie. (Aloud) Pass the tobacco.
11:59—Emerson (aloud). Pass the tobacco.
Carlyle. It's too late for anither pipe. (Aloud, grasping EMERSON'S hand) Mon, we've had a fine time! It has been the pleasantest evening I have ever spent.

The house then shook to the bang of the door as EMERSON passed out. (PUNCH.)

CARMENCITA.

Standing before a Michigan Avenue shop window today,
Idly admiring the garments "awaiting Milady,"
A breeze bore to me an almost forgotten perfume:
China-berry blossoms . . . Carmencita!
I no longer stood on our beloved Boul. Mich.
Before me was
A star-lit patio, hemmed in by vine-clad walls;
Lonely, deserted in the moonlight;
The silver fountain splashed and played
With its shadow,
And sang an obbligato to my thumping heart;
The white Mission walls gleamed thru the vines
Where the purple-red Passion flowers nodded;
Drinking in the wonder before me,
Waiting . . .
For Carmencita.
There she comes, dancing feet in little crimson shoes,
Laughing eyes, half shaded by the white mantilla
Draped so gracefully over the huge carven comb;
About her form a heavy, silk, fringed shawl
Pinned to the belt of her short, scarlet skirt
With a slender, shining dagger.
The heavy, old-fashioned cameo at her throat
Rises and falls, as she runs to me
Holding out her arms, and smiling . . .
I catch her close, and bend to kiss her . . .
Twenty years ago! Seville, and Michigan Avenue!
Are you still waiting for your Americano?
I really always mean to go back,
But somehow . . .
China-berry blossoms . . .
Carmencita. APPLES.

ANOTHER DIFFICULT PROBLEM.

RARELY is my mail bag so light that it does not contain at least one letter on bed wetting. This is a model for the lot:

"I am desperate. My child, 7 years old, wets the bed every night. I have had him to seven doctors and he is just as bad off as he was in the beginning. What can I do?"

Change the age of the child and the number of physicians seen and you have a letter that comes to me by the thousands.

I am afraid when they get through with me they have merely added another to their list of useless appeals.

As in the case of nail biting, I have been surprised at the number of appeals which come from adults who suffer from the affliction.

In early infancy the bladder is emptied when asleep or awake just on impulse. The process is psychological. As children get older they gradually acquire the ability to restrain this impulse first when awake, and later subconsciously when asleep.

Thus we see that bed wetting is instinctive and natural. The reverse—freedom from the habit—is artificial and unnatural, a power acquired by an intellectual mastery which, in turn, is social in its origin.

Some are unable to make the grade.

The reasons are many. It is the multiplicity of the reasons, the scores of things, many of them trifling, which make it difficult to cure cases of bed wetting.

That cause may be one of twenty, most of which are removable, and there is no way to tell which it is in a given case except to try out each of the twenty.

In Clark's method of character training, normal babies learn to get along without diapers by the time they are 3 months old. Babies trained by the Clark method are not apt to develop into bed wetting children. Dr. Hawke of Winfield, Kas., says if a child still is a persistent bed wetter at the end of the third year, treatment should be started.

If the child is an idiot or an imbecile, not much can be done. If he has epilepsy, chorea, habit spasm or night terrors, the case will prove difficult, but it may not be incurable. It is estimated that about 90 per cent of the bed wetters are neurotics. In fact, all adults, adolescents and children in the puberty period who bed wet are either mentally incompetent, badly neurotic or have some organic bladder weakness.

But most neurotics are far from being untrainable. Among local conditions responsible for bed wetting at times are phimosis, adherent prepuce, inflammation of the outer urinary organs, poorly developed bladder wall, stone in the bladder, intestinal parasites. Among other causes are faulty diet, especially one too rich in sugar; diabetes, Bright's disease and enlarged tonsils.

Prendagast cured seventy-five cases out of eighty in a boys' orphanage by douching the spine with cold water and then giving a vigorous rubdown. The boys emptied their bladders and went to bed at once.

Plack employs a kind of bladder training.

Several times a day the subjects are made to pass the urine on command. At the word "stop" they desist. This is done two or three times at each urination, or about ten times a day in all. The subject keeps a monthly record of bed wetting and nonbed wetting nights and mails it to the doctor at the end of the month.

Another method is to give no fluids after 4 p. m. The child passes his urine at 8 p. m. and goes to bed. At 10:30 p. m. the parent awakens the child "wide awake" and has him empty the bladder completely and then go back to bed. Nervous children are not allowed to romp or play after 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Some children lack thyroid and are cured by taking that substance.

STORK, LIKE FRIENDS, ERRATIC.

Mrs. C. S. writes: I am to become a mother in the very near future and have been told by some of my friends that the stork may visit me about twenty days before due and still be normal. Can that be possible? I knew some that were visited by the stork at seven months, but not at eight months and ten days.

REPLY.

The stork is a very uncertain bird. If he were a railroad engineer, he would lose his run, if not his engine, in short order. The best time for the baby to come is right exactly on time, but the penalty for getting in ahead of schedule is too small to worry about. A baby born at eight months and ten days is in less danger that one born at seven months

HAVE HER EXAMINED.

Mother writes: "1. Is it possible for a girl of 10 years to have locomotor ataxia? My little girl stumbles around and seems to have no balance at all. She eats well, but is always pale and thin, irritable and nervous. Her father had the same trouble for a year before he died.

"2. What would you advise?"

REPLY.

1. It is possible.
2. She should be thoroughly examined. While locomotor ataxia is improbable, some other form of nerve syphilis or organic nerve disease is to be considered.

NOT ADEQUATE REMEDY.

G. M. P. writes: "Would you consider ¾ gr. ampoules of cacodylate of soda as a destroyer of the microbes of syphilis? Twelve were given intramuscularly at intervals of three days."

REPLY.

This was extensively tried out nearly seven years ago. The conclusion is that it cannot be relied on to replace arsephenamine or mercury.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Chicago, July 26.—[Friend of the People.]—A large motor truck recently backed into our curbing and smashed about two feet of it. Is it up to me to fix the curbing or will the city do it? REDUCING OUR ARMED FORCES.

Mason City, Ia., July 24.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—In reducing the army what system is employed? Does a man have to apply for his discharge or do they discharge just so many from certain branches? Are they letting out men from the medical corps? W. D.

It was ordered that men applying for release from the army during the month of July would receive their discharges. This was afterward amended to provide that not more than 30 per cent might be released from any one command. This arrangement holds good only up to and including July 31. Outside of this there is no special arrangement for letting out men in the medical corps or any other branches. Men can, however, request discharge at any time, stating their reasons, and each case will be handled on its merits.

2. In case this daughter dies intestate before her father, will the property revert again to her father? A. E. B.

1. Not if the deeds are validly delivered during his life.
2. It will revert to the father, but probate probably will be necessary. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Chicago, July 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—On the front page of last Sunday's TRIBUNE the following item appeared:

"Big Pool, Md., July 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—H. S. Firestone brought to camp a half dozen saddled horses today and with Secretary Christian, Henry and Edsel Ford, H. S. Firestone Jr. and Mrs. Firestone, the President cantered over the country roads for an hour."

In another column Charles A. Braun, brother of Grover Bergdoll, was openly attacked by Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky. Braun was finally led out of the capitol, where the hearing took place. According to reports, he wept as he left the room.

None of us have any sympathy for Bergdoll and his kind. Nevertheless, Bergdoll is out of this country and he should remain out.

However, think of the inconsistency. The President spends time at camp in the presence of Edsel Ford.

Should the Legion keep out of politics? The bonus bill is killed, wounded soldiers are still waiting for the Sweet bill to pass, while Bergdoll is safe in Germany, Edsel Ford spends a day with the President, and Jack Dempsey continues to pile up his fortune.

WAR FINANCING NOT LIMITED TO CIVILIANS.

South Oak, Ill., May 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I wonder if the gentleman who signed himself "Citizen" realizes that the service men also bought Liberty bonds and thrift stamps?

The organization in which I served went over the top 100 per cent. These men subscribed this money willingly, and had they received the wartime salaries would have given it just as freely as said "Citizen."

Furthermore, a great number of them were forced to sell their bonds below par on leaving the service. M. E. LARSON.

RECIPROCITY FOR THE NORTH SHORE.

Chicago, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Something should be done to convince our north shore neighbors that they do not own the lake. The writer, accompanied by his wife and two friends, motored from Evanston to Lake Bluff last Sunday afternoon and tried unsuccessfully to visit the various beaches in Evanston, Wilmette, Winnetka, Glencoe, and Lake Forest, and at each was turned away by the police with the statement that the beaches were for the exclusive use of their respective residents.

If this selfish rule is permitted to apply to the beaches, why not extend it to the Chicago boulevards and parks and reserve them for the exclusive use of Chicagoans and turn our north shore neighbors back at the city limits? F. F. HOLLAND.

FORD AND MUSCLE SHOALS.

Chicago, July 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Henry Ford, "peace ship navigator," exponent of "cowless milk" and blue Sundays, who believes in stirring up religious hatred as the best means toward ending war, is spending money in attempting to persuade our government to allow him to lease Muscle Shoals in Alabama for the partial purpose of manufacturing war explosives.

I should think the mere fact of this man's war record and that of his son, Edsel, would be sufficient cause in the judgment of the administration to cast the entire proposition into the discard, where it properly belongs. A. J. M.

IT'S NO LONGER CHEAPER TO MOVE.

Chicago, July 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Why are furniture moving companies allowed to charge $3 per mile [about $15 an hour] for vans with two men?

I recently moved from north to south side, and was informed above is the legal rate. Had to pay $30 for ten miles, besides $4.50 an hour loading and unloading time. This is worse than highway robbery. We can rent auto trucks for $30 per day for heavy hauling. Then van companies seem to have put something over, if this is the legal rate. JAMES DENISON.

"A MIXTURE OF GOOD AND BAD."

La Grange, Ind., July 15.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your editorial concerning the soldier bonus is a mixture of good and bad. You flay the profiteers who fattened on the war; but why were you silent when they were gorging themselves? The mob, instigated by the newspapers, was ready to lynch any one who dared to tell the truth during the war, and it now comes with poor grace from the mob to howl and whine about profiteers. If the constitutional guarantee of free speech had been preserved during the war, there would have been plenty of light shed upon the nefarious doings of the war whoopers.

As you suggest, let economy be practiced in all governmental business. Let the bonus be shelved by all means. There is plenty of time for the ex-soldiers to get bonuses. They will be the playthings of pusillanimous politicians for the next sixty years. Billions upon billions will be paid to them.

As an Illinois citizen and an anti-Wilson Democrat, I commend Harding for his courage regarding the bonus. F. W. MCDANIEL.

FORD'S AID BACKS MUSCLE SHOALS BOOSTERS' BILLS

Friend Told How to 'Jolly' Auto Maker.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—How the aid of the Mississippi Valley association was enlisted, with all expenses footed by the Tennessee River Improvement association, for the project of putting through the Henry Ford or other Muscle Shoals development scheme, is unveiled in the letters of J. W. Worthington, the head Muscle Shoals promoter.

The Mississippi Valley association sent a committee to Muscle Shoals, and this committee published a costly illustrated report urging congress to appropriate $10,000,000 for the continuation of construction of the Wilson dam and power plant.

The Tennessee River Improvement association paid the expenses of the Mississippi Valley association's committee on its trip to Muscle Shoals and paid for the publication and circulation of the report which Mr. Worthington is using to promote acceptance of the Ford offer.

Harding Urged to Favor Plan.

A committee of the valley association, headed by Vice President James E. Smith of St. Louis, recently urged President Harding to give favorable consideration to the Muscle Shoals development project.

Mr. Worthington said in several letters that Mr. Ford would rely on the Am organizations and the Mississippi Valley association to put the legislation through congress, if they approved his proposal.

In reply to a letter, dated June 18 last, Mr. Worthington wrote to Vice President Smith of the Mississippi Valley association:

"Just as soon as all the expenses to that amount covering every item of cost in connection with the making of your report is known, please have me advised at Washington and I will cause payment to be made of this amount and, of course, we have expected, as you suggest, that our payment of your committee's traveling expenses and our payment of all the expenses in getting out this report and distributing it will be a contribution by our association to the M. V. A.

Promises Expense Money.

"All of the expenses connected with this will be paid in addition to the $1,500 to be sent to you before next Saturday, and all payments of all kinds will be membership dues paid by us as the 8th district of the waterways division of the M. V. A."

In another letter to Vice President Smith of the Mississippi Valley association Mr. Worthington said:

"Mr. Johnson advises that your report will be ready to be sent out Monday, and I write to suggest that you, as early as possible, write a letter to Mr. Ford and send him a copy, telling him fully the purposes of the report and how the Mississippi Valley association proposes to get congress to appropriate the necessary funds to carry on the work at the Wilson dam, and how you propose to get this appropriation forthwith, etc.

Urged to "Jolly" Ford.

"I suggest also that you refer to your late visit to the C. D. canal and the Illinois river and tell Mr. Ford kindly of the purpose to get navigation from the Mississippi to the great lakes, and you can tell Mr. Ford that you noted from the papers, as per the enclosed, that he has visited Muscle Shoals and that you hope that Muscle Shoals in its magnitude has met its match in him; and that he has the opportunity to do for agriculture and industry at Muscle Shoals what he has done for transportation with the Ford car and for the farmers with the Ford tractor, and that you believe that Muscle Shoals in his hands will be the nation's opportunity and his own.

"Such a letter will please him at this time and your report will find a cordial reception."

"Also, please send a copy of your report to W. P. Mayo. Mr. Mayo is Mr. Ford's engineer and you may say that you noted from the papers that he and Mr. Ford had visited Muscle Shoals and make such comments as you may see fit, among other things, calling his attention to your late visit to the Illinois river.

Sure of Mayo's Appreciation.

"Mr. Mayo will appreciate this, and he is the adviser of Mr. Ford about Muscle Shoals; and this forenoon, during a conference in my room, Mr. Mayo said that Mr. Ford was very impatient to get the proposal reduced to writing and settled, which means, on the whole, that they are crowding me, but I shall not be able to complete the first draft of the proposal before Sunday afternoon or Monday morning.

"Will you also please send copies of your report to R. R. Moten, Tuskegee, Ala., and you may say, please, that you learned of his interest in Muscle Shoals and make such comments as seem appropriate. Moten is Booker Washington's successor and he has already been of help to us with the president and he can help some more and will do so."

In a "strictly confidential" letter to Senator Underwood of Alabama Mr. Worthington says that he is sending for the senator's "very personal and private use the first draft of the proposal Mr. Ford is now considering and at the present time he intends to make."

WALKS ON ELEVATION; KILLED.

While walking on the Northwestern railroad elevation at Oak Park, Franklyn Locke, 81 years old, of 239 Park avenue, River Forest, was struck by a train yesterday and sustained injuries from which he died. Locke was a civil war veteran and a member of the Borrowed Time club of Oak Park.

Lorado Taft on Modern Sculpture

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

IN beautiful Fullerton hall at the Art institute of Chicago there is given each year a series of lectures upon the history, theory, and practice of the Fine Arts. These are known as the Scammon lectures and are the result of the bequest of Maria Sheldon Scammon, who requested that they be delivered only by persons of distinction and authority. Certainly the thirteenth series, given in 1917, was the work of such a person. Mr. Lorado Taft was the lecturer, his subject being: "Modern Tendencies in Sculpture" [The University of Chicago Press].

At a time when all that is most bizarre and startling leads the vogue, Mr. Taft's unaffected, direct, and idealistic utterances seem like a return to health after febrile days. He states his position at the outset by a quotation from Maeterlinck:

"Sculpture should be the most exceptional of the arts. It should externalize only the rarest an the most absolutely beautiful moments of life, choosing with irreproachable discrimination from the forms, the joys, and the sorrows of humanity. A sculptured moment which is not admirable is a permanent crime, a persistent and inexcusable obsession.

With so fine a text, and with every inclination to keep to it, Mr. Taft is able to approach without confusion the modern sculptural work of France, Germany, Italy, Scandinavia, and America. That whimsicality which is characteristic of Mr. Taft's writings mitigates even his most adverse criticism and there is nothing scornful, acrid, or prejudiced in anything he has to say, but with infallible instinct he selects, from a large group of sculptural objects, those which have the qualities of charm or dignity and, consequently, of enduring beauty.

Regarding the monstrosities which it has been the fashion to celebrate, there is no serious discussion. Mr. Taft's swift humor brushes them like a beetle's wing. There is no alighting. These grotesques seem almost, by this method, to cease to exist and to leave the world happier and better by their vanishing.

There are in all six lectures, two being devoted to individuals—Auguste Rodin and Augustus Saint-Gaudens. French and German sculpture receive each a chapter to themselves; one lecture is a review of the work of various lands and the final lecture a glance at American sculpture. The modesty of the lecturer forbade any reference to his own work—that work which is coming to hold a firm place in the estimation of beauty lovers throughout America.

Mr. Taft long since passed the stage where he was contented with the prettiness and plausibility of graceful productions designed for the drawing rooms of blameless ladies. For years now he has, so far as circumstances permitted, worked on monumental projects. If Rodin's influence is apparent in his structures, the Avatar of his own land suggested his themes and the deep ideality of his nature moved him to work nobly and with a sense of the responsibility which he felt he owed to his native land.

He worked, if not alone, at least far removed from the coterie of sculptors who acted and reacted upon each other in the east, and he missed their applause because he was not of their fellowship. His own section has not been too ready with praise because it was not sure of its authority. But "The Fountain of Time," regarding which Chicago appears to have had a quite incomprehensible hesitation, has put him, in the estimation of the east among the few American sculptors who can conceive a large and poetic idea and develop in with sculptural consistency and what may be termed heroic suggestion.

France, in History and Essay

BY CHARLES H. GABRIEL JR.

THE reign of Charlemagne shone in a brief light of four decades on the pall of darkness that had obscured everything in western Europe for 200 years before the seventh century. As he passed the night swept down again. The Arabian floods, curiously "shadowed" by essences of progressive culture, deluged the land to the south, and the barbarians fought over the corpse of the Roman empire in the north of Europe.

All that was artistic, ennobling, advancing, took refuge in Constantinople, there to persist despite the surrounding sea of barbarism.

Not until the discovery of the Roman law code in Italy in the twelfth century did civilization lift its head. A century later came Pisano, Dante, Giotto, and Petrarch to lead the way to enlightenment as the "four fathers of the Renaissance." Art and literature began to flow back to western Europe and almost drained Italy.

Then it was that that immortal family, the Medici, grew to power and influence, to vice and greatness. They rescued the work begun by "the fathers" and in the city of Florence learning was lifted from the brink of the grave, art was encouraged to new life, and decay has not since become noticeable save in obscure corners today.

"The Medici," by Col. G. F. Young [Dutton, 2 vols.], now appears reprinted. It is a work likely to be the most reliable so far extant. It neither excuses the criminal nor glorifies the moral. It is an absorbing, complete, and needed book and reads, as all momentous histories, more as a narrative than as a collection of facts.

Stuart Henry, financier-essayist of 61 years, knows France and the French intimately. In his latest volume of "French Essays and Profiles" [Dutton], he carries on the delightful series he began in "Hours With Famous Parisians," with as much cheery, spontaneous enthusiasm and as informally and sympathetically as he treated the literary men and women of the Paris of yesterday.

Mr. Henry succeeds in limning portraits that are and will remain distinct and unforgetable to the reader. We meet Coppée, Dumas, Gyp, Judith Gautier, Loti, and Sardou, to mention six of nineteen, with the sense of having visited them and been one of their coterie.

Style is not attempted, I presume. Many passages are labored. Little used and rare words are employed, somewhat destructive to smoothness and somewhat uselessly. Form is barely acknowledged. But, after all, it is the thought and not the garb that will make Mr. Henry's book enjoyable and valuable to his audience.

INFORMALLY

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

Down through the playtimes of the years comes the plea for gladness "with a touch of sprightliness and beauty." By listening to the echoes of laughter, Miss Helen Ferris has prepared a 265 page volume of ways and means for "Producing Amateur Entertainments" (E. P. Dutton & Co.), which is sure to have a vogue with organization leaders, recreational directors and community workers.

HELEN FERRIS.

When Shakespeare felt impelled to issue the warning:

Weaving spiders, come not here;
Hence, you long-legg'd spiders, hence!
Beetles black, approach not near;
Worm nor snail, do no offense.

we are reasonably certain he was not dedicating the quatrain to the millions of folk from Vladivostok to the Dakotas who now champion civilization in a tent. But Shakespeare drove away the marauding insects, only to have them reappear again in literature, this time in the recently published "Holidays in Tents," by W. M. Childs [E. P. Dutton & Co.]. The book is written in a combination catalogue and autobiography style which coats over the pellet of advice with an icing of incident.

"Dogtown Common" is the title of Percy Mackaye's new poem, published by Macmillan. Its scene is the New England coast near old Gloucester town. Its people are the bygone Puritan community of a deserted village.

Just what is the relativity of a school of poetry which requires 18 words to entitle a poem of but 46 words? Marianne Moore is the author of "new" poems, published by the Egoist Press, London. But of poetry, the author says, "I, too, dislike it." In place of which she suggests "the raw material of poetry in all its rawness."

As if to prove her point, she gives us, among others in the volume, the poem entitled "You Are Like the Realistic Product of an Idealistic Search for Gold at the Foot of the Rainbow":

Hid by the august foliage and fruit of the grape vine, twine
round the pruned and polished stem, chameleon.
Fire laid upon an emerald as long as the Dark King's massy
one, could not snap the spectrum up for food as you have done.

Perhaps Amy Lowell can explain it. It's a bit too kaleidoscopic for us.

Stephen Vincent Benet, whose engagement to Rosemary Carr of Chicago is a recent announcement, is to have a novel published this fall by Henry Holt & Co. "The Beginning of Wisdom" he calls the book, which is listed as "the very frank story of a very young man." . . . In his bread and butter letter to Chicago, John Farrar, editor of the Bookman, sends best wishes to "you all." . . . Aug. 15, Knopf will publish "The Tortoise," a new novel by Mary Borden, author of "The Romantic Woman." . . . Lord Chesterfield may have written his son that "Dante is not worth the pains to understand him," but 600 years after the death of the great Italian we find a consummate interest in him. The revised edition of Dante's works, translated and edited by Henry Francis Cary and published by the Oxford University Press, is sure to be appreciated by many. . . . F. Scott Fitzgerald has just returned to this country from Europe.

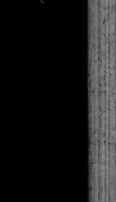
BY I. E. SANBORN.

Seven bases on balls by three Cub pitchers were the prominent factors yesterday in the triumph of the lowly Phillies in the first game of their series here. Score, 6 to 2.



"GOLDIE" RAPP. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Evers tribe hit Hubbell almost as hard as the visitors did York, Martin, and Jones, who slabbed for the locals, but Hubbell did not issue a pass all-day, making every one work his way to first. In consequence, it required three swats to make the first Cub tally and the second one was a gift.

Runs came easier for the Donovans. Rapp began the day's work with a rap over the left field screen, and the Cubs trailed all the way after that. Sergt. York, who was the victim of Rapp's four bagger, lasted only until one was out in the third chapter, after giving three bases on balls and allowing four runs.

Martin Rescues York.

Speed Martin went to the sergeant's rescue and curbed the Phillies down to nothing until he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the home half of the eighth. Looked as if the Cubs might come from behind in that inning, but fortune frowned and the visitors cinched it with two runs in the ninth off Percy Jones.

In spite of its result, the combat was featured by some fast and snappy fielding without any circus stuff. Only one of the three Cub errors figured in the scoring, a boot by Marriot in the last round being responsible for the two runs that registered then. But Marriot was the only Cub who got the range for fair, and he rang up three hits in succession. Grimes made two, leaving only three for the rest of the home outfit.

Cubs Score in Fourth.

Rapp made his four bagger before the announcer finished telling the folks the lineup. Smith was retired, but King walked and reached second on a wild shot by York to pick him off first. That really did not matter, as Walker tore off a triple which scored King.

York got by after that until the third, then sailed into rough water. J. Smith and King led off with singles. Walker sacrificed and Koney counted the two runs with a solid single to center. Williams was passed, and that ended York's term of service on the slab. Martin pulled out of that hole without letting in any more runs and shut the Phils out with only three hits in the next five innings.

Meantime the Cubs were blanked until the fourth, then made a noise like a run. Hollocher and Marriot tore off clean hits, but Grimes smashed to J. Smith for a double play which choked off the gladness. Hollocher reached third, however, and Barber brought him in with a single to left. Maisel was called out on strikes.

One More Cub Tally.

Deal tried to start something in the eighth with a double to left. A wild pitch let him to third, and he registered on Daly's out. Twombly, in Martin's turn, grounded out, and so did Flack.

One down in the ninth, King worked Jones for a pass. Walker singled, and the moved up on Koney's demise. Williams' nasty bounder went through Marriot, and both King and Walker scored, putting the game out of reach.

CUB NOTES

PHILADELPHIA today—twice.

Beginning at 1:30 o'clock, the Cubs and Phillies will try to pull off a double-header this afternoon.

York had a narrow escape in the third when J. Smith smashed a hot one back at him. By quick ducking the sergeant avoided a blow in the head that would have put him out of commission.

Flack came to Martin's rescue with a fine running catch in the eighth. Two Phils were on bases, with two out, when Rapp laced a liner into right center. Flack pinched it close to his knees.

Two out in the home first, Marriot and Grimes singled, the former reaching third. They tried the double steal, but Bruggy and J. Smith foiled them by a pair of perfect pegs.

Walker made three of the visitors' hits, one off each Cub hurler.

DONOVAN NOT WITH PHILLIES

Reports from the east last night hinted that all is not well with "Wild Bill" Donovan and his job as manager of the Phillies. The latter opened a series here yesterday with the Cubs and were in charge of "Kayser." Wilhelm. The acting boss said last night that he knew nothing of the change, if it had been made. Donovan did not come west with the team on the excuse that he wanted to look over some minor league players.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 29.—Joe Dugan, the Philadelphia American's third baseman, did not report at the Athletics' park today, and Manager Mack expressed the belief his disappearance was due to his sensitiveness to the shouts and criticisms of some of the fans.

"After he was jeered by a few members of the crowd at yesterday's doubleheader," Mack said, "Dugan told me he was through with Philadelphia and would never play here again. I told him he would have to play here or nowhere. If he does not report immediately and give a satisfactory account of his absence today, it will mean suspension."

M'GRAW DENIES BID TO WEAVER

Cincinnati, O., July 29.—John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Nationals, denied today that he had made any proposals to Buck Weaver, one of the indicted Sox on trial at Chicago, to play with the Giants. McGraw said that he merely went to Chicago to see President Heydler about his suspension.

The Giants' manager emphatically asserted he never broached the subject of Weaver playing with the Giants in the event of his acquittal.

"If he is acquitted and Judge Landis gives him a clean bill of honesty, why, then, the Giants may engage in the bidding for Weaver," he said.

PLUVIUS CALLS OFF SOX SET-UP AFTER GRIFFITH REFUSES

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Washington, D. C., July 29.—[Special.]—When Clark Griffith today again refused to postpone a game against the White Sox remnants, although the weather granted such action, nature stepped in and forced the game postponed after two innings had been played and the score 5 to 1 in favor of Washington.

CLARK GRIFFITH. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Nature tried to turn the trick in early afternoon by sending a heavy rainstorm that lasted more than an hour. But Griffith had his big canvas over the diamond, determined to grab another victory when it was set up for him.

Can't Even See Raindrops.

Then the boys got out to practice and nature sent a drizzling rain, but Griff refused to look at it. It was drizzling enough that the boys cut out the infield practice, but when the game began the rain stopped.

Nature let the Senators drive in five runs in the first inning and then stopped it at the end of the second with a regular downpour that stopped even Griffith. It takes a cloudburst to stop Griff when there is a "set up" game for him.

"Crowd" of 300.

Not over 300 persons were out, exclusive of passes. A lot more will be made by staging a double-header next trip, and by that time the Sox stars will be present and it will be no "set up" game.

Sometimes it looks as if there's no sportsmanship in baseball.

The Sox caught the evening train for Philadelphia, and the stars and regulars will be on hand to start the series against the Macks tomorrow.

MANORS TO PLAY WEST ENDS TODAY

Marquette Manor park this afternoon will be the scene of a baseball game which promises to be one of the leading cards of the summer in that section.

The West Ends, rejuvenated since they were purchased by Nick Bosco, will oppose Charlie Geisman's aggregation. Geisman, in turn, reports his team is strengthened by the addition of Pitcher Eddie Stack. Stack formerly managed the Commodore Barry K. of C. team.

Four championship games in the Midwest league race are on the schedule for this week-end. One will be the Pyott-Logan Squar game today at Logan Square, and the two will clash in a return battle tomorrow at Pyott's park.

The Joliet club will be at Marquette Manor park Sunday, and the Fairbanks-Morse team will play the Simmons at Kenosha.

PLAN SAND LOT BALL TOURNEY

President Julian T. Fitzgerald of the Chicago Baseball federation has charge of the arrangements for the elimination games of class A (amateurs), class AA (industrial), and class AAA (semi-pro), to decide which of the winners in each will compete with Milwaukee on Sept. 10 or 11.

Managers of teams wishing to participate in this series may call up Secretary Edward A. Mahlke, Columbus 2980, or President Fitzgerald, Humboldt 121.

Cy Young and Lajoie Lead Cleveland Veterans to Victory

Cleveland, O., July 29.—Old time professional baseball players, some of whom played with Cleveland as far back as 1879, today defeated a team of veteran sandlotters, 11 to 6, the event being one of the features of Cleveland's 125th anniversary celebration.

A large crowd was present. Cy Young, the only pitcher who ever won 500 major league games, went to the slab at the outset of the contest, with Chief Zimmer, his old catcher, behind the bat. Each is well over 50 years of age.

This famous old battery worked two innings, being followed by younger pitchers and catchers, including Nick Altrock, the comedian of the Washington American league club, who was an added feature.

Only two hits were made off Young. He struck out two batters and gave one base on balls.

The old timers' infield was the same that played for Cleveland in 1902, 1903, and 1905, with Charlie Hickman at first, Nap Lajoie on second, Terry Turner at short, and Bill Bradley on third. Not an error did it make.

In the outfield were such famous old stars as Jess Burkett, now coach of the New York Giants; Harry Bay, Elmer Flick, Ollie Pickering, Larry Twitchell, and Bunk Congalton.

Others who participated were Neal Ball, who alternated at shortstop; Fred Gatch, Paddy Livingston, and Rosenbach, catchers, and Earl Moore, Albert Nelson, and Heinie Berger, pitchers.

Lajoie and Bradley were the only ones who started in the game to finish.

The old-time pros batted more timely and fielded better than the veteran sandlotters and but for Altrock's clowning in the ninth inning would have won by a more one-sided score. The old-time pitchers struck out nine men, Berger showing to the best advantage.

Burkett and Bradley did the best batting, getting six of the old-timers' twenty hits. Burkett got three out of three times at bat and Bradley three out of four.

Gatch made the professionals' only error. The sandlotters got seventeen hits and had two errors.

83 Contestants Start Today in I. A. C.'s Annual River Swim

BY ALBON HOLDEN.

Eighty-three swimmers will dive off the municipal pier this afternoon in the opening athletic event of the Pageant of Progress, the thirteenth anuual Chicago river marathon of the Illinois Athletic club.

The start will be at the shore line on the north side of the pier, and the course will be east to the end of the big structure, back along the south side of the pier to the mouth of the river, and, with the current, down to the Wells street bridge. A measurement of the course showed the distance to be just short of three miles.

Norman Ross, the great I. A. C. star, world's champion at almost every distance, is the big favorite, and it is hard to see how the famous tri-color star can be beaten. Last year he won against a small field of swimmers, the contestants being international stars who had competed one week previously in the tryouts for the United States Olympic team in Lincoln park. Five Hawaiian stars gave Ross a real battle.

The event this year has drawn the largest entry list in history, and the field is composed of young Chicago swimmers, many starting in their big event.

Late nominations swelled the entry list to eighty-three, against a smaller field of twenty last year. The race will be between a new generation of local swimmers for second place, prize cup and the medals for the first twenty-five to paddle under the Wells street bridge.

Bleachers have been erected on the north side of the pier for the Pageant of Progress crowd to watch the start. The gun will be fired at 3 o'clock. President Charles A. Dean of the Central A. A. U will referee the race.

AMERICANS WIN 2 ROWING EVENTS

St. Catherines, Ont., July 29.—American oarsmen won two of seven events on the opening day's program of the royal Canadian Henley regatta. Toronto crews captured three events and Hamilton and St. Catherines each one.

The American victors were the 140 pound eight of the Detroit Rowing club and Ed McGuire of Buffalo, who won the junior singles.

The Detroit eight won at the Henley distance of one mile and 550 yards in 7:16 2-5, finishing half a length in front of the University of Toronto.

The junior singles event went to McGuire in a spectacular finish, as he cut across the course at an angle, but nevertheless won handily.

BOXING RULERS TO TURK CROWN FROM HEAD OF WILSON

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—The reversed action of the Cleveland boxing commission in declaring Bryan Downey the middleweight champion as a result of his fight with Johnny Wilson on Wednesday night will be accepted as official by the New York state athletic commission and probably throughout the country where boxing is conducted under commission rule.

JERRY GARDNER.

Efforts to reach Chairman William Muldoon of the local commission today, upon receipt of the dispatch from Cleveland were unsuccessful. Chairman Muldoon, however, had already declared himself prepared to accept Downey as the new champion in the event that the Cleveland commission reversed the decision of Referee Jimmy Gardner giving Wilson the bout on a foul.

This is the attitude of the body governing boxing in this state, regardless of the fact that the empire state governing body is not affiliated with the National Boxing association.

All Commissions in Line.

Membership commissions in the N. A. A. probably will abide by the decision of the Cleveland commission also, and it is altogether likely that the Massachusetts boxing commission, which, like the New York commission, is not affiliated with the N. B. A., will also accept the Cleveland decision, thus the Bay state governing body will be in harmony with the local commission on matters of this nature.

Up to the time local commission headquarters closed tonight no official word had been received from the Cleveland authorities. With the arrival of official information from the Cleveland authorities the local commission will make public its stand in the matter.

Wilson's Stormy Career.

Wilson jumped from obscurity to the middleweight heights over night, and his boxing seems destined to be as surprising. He won the title from Mike O'Dowd on a decision in a twelve round bout at Boston May 6, last year. The award giving Wilson the title was protested by O'Dowd and his admirers. At that time Wilson has defended his title in several bouts, including a return match with O'Dowd at Madison Square garden last March 17.

An awkward, left handed boxer, Wilson while not exactly superior, nevertheless has not been an attractive champion. Nor has his work been impressive. He carried through a stiff fifteen round bout with George Robinson at Montreal last Dec. 9 and was lucky to escape with his title. His downing before Downey but substantiated the belief that Wilson was not to be ranked among the ring's "greats."

Cleveland Board to Act.

Cleveland, O., July 29.—The Cleveland boxing commission is preparing a statement to be sent to all state boxing commissions and the national boxing commission tomorrow reversing the decision of Referee Jimmy Gardner at Lowell, Mass., and giving the middleweight championship of the world to Bryan Downey of Cleveland, J. B. Herding, chairman of the Cleveland boxing commission, announced today.

Here Is Wilson's Side.

Boston, Mass., July 29.—"They tried to frame us and are still at their tricks, but they won't get away with it," was the statement tonight of Martin Killilea, manager of Johnny Wilson, whose title to the middleweight championship was added as a result of the bout with Bryan Downey at Cleveland Wednesday. He and Wilson returned tonight to Cleveland.

Killilea said that in the seventh round, after Wilson had been knocked down, one of Downey's seconds grabbed Wilson by the leg. He said Wilson got up and kicked backwards, turning his head and Downey knocked him down in the second time.

"Then Wilson was resting on one knee, taking the count, Killilea asserted, when Downey pushed Referee Gardner aside and rushed at Wilson, grazing his head. Gardner thereupon awarded the fight to Wilson on a foul.

Massachusetts Accepts Wilson.

Eugene Buckley, state boxing commissioner, said tonight that no action would be taken in this state to deprive Wilson of his title, even though the Cleveland and other commissions decided to overrule Gardner.

Wilson declared he had all the better of it going to the seventh and would have stopped Downey in another round.

SHOWING TITLE BOUT FILMS IN GOTHAM IS LEGAL, LAWYER SAYS

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—Exhibition here of motion pictures of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight is not in violation of the laws of New York, according to an opinion given to Acting District Attorney J. B. Banton by the appeal bureau of the prosecutor's office today.

This opinion, following upon the closing of the case against G. L. (Tex) Rickard and Fred L. Quimby in the federal courts by the imposition of $1,000 fines for bringing the pictures here in violation of federal statutes, will result, it was said tonight, in the showing of the pictures in this state.

Cannot Prosecute Again.

The producers cannot be further prosecuted for the same offense by the federal authorities, according to the appeal bureau decision. The films are already here and plans have been made to present them at the Forty-fourth Street theater.

The opinion was given as the result of a complaint by John S. Sumner, secretary of the Society for the Suppression of Vice. Mr. Sumner contended that the showing of the pictures here was a violation of state laws, in that they tended toward the corruption of the morals of youths.

Says Jack Violated Law.

Jack Dempsey, as a resident of this state, violated section 1713 of the penal law when he fought Carpentier in New Jersey, Sumner also contended.

KILBANE OFFERED $25,000 TO MEET HERMAN IN FALL

New Orleans, La., July 29.—Promoter Al Pillsbury has wired Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, an offer of $25,000 to meet Pete Herman, bantamweight champion, in a decision bout here next fall.

Herman already has signified his willingness to meet Kilbane. The promoter hopes to stage the bout here in November, when the races open.

Herman declared on his return here yesterday he was also ready to meet Joe Lynch again if the former champion wanted another bout.

"I will be ready to defend my title within thirty days," Herman said. "No legitimate bantamweight is barred, let it be Joe Lynch, or any one. Lynch was sportsmanlike about giving me a return match; he can depend on my being just as sportsmanlike."

LOUISIANA SNUBS DOWNEY'S CLAIM

New Orleans, La., July 20.—[Special.]—Bryan Downey, proclaimed middleweight champion, is not going to be recognized as such by the Louisiana boxing commission. Richard T. Burke, secretary of the comish, says there is nothing in the law under which the state commission operates, where it must recognize a champion.

"In my opinion," Burke says, "the Ohio commission made a grievous error in suspending its rule to accept Wilson's referee. The referee, where judges are not appointed, is recognized as supreme in the matter of decisions. It is this fact alone that will help to eliminate whatever claim Downey may advance on the title."

White Training Daily for Bout with Johnny Dundee

Charley White, who burst into the championship picture by the front door of the office the other night claiming he beat Benny Leonard at Benton Harbor about a year ago, let it be known that he is letting no grass grow under his feet to get another chance at the title. Charley is training daily at Ferretti's loop gymn for his 10 round decision contest with Johnnie Dundee in New York on Aug. 10. From Gotham he will go to Omaha, Neb., to meet Otto Wallace on Aug. 25.

Armstrong and McGee in Minnesota Net Semi-Finals

Minneapolis, Minn., July 29.—Joe Armstrong and John McGee of St. Paul defeated Phil Brain and Trafford Jayne, Minneapolis, 6—2, 6—4, 1—6, 6—1, in the semi-finals in the northwestern tennis tournament at Deep Haven today. The St. Paul pair will meet Myron Hutchinson and Clarence Sanders, also of St. Paul, in the finals tomorrow. The women's and men's singles titles also will be decided tomorrow.

Miss Clark, Minneapolis, Wins Gopher Golf Title

Minneapolis, Minn., July 29.—Miss Mary Clark of Oak Ridge club, Minneapolis, won the women's state golf championship today, defeating Miss Dorothy Anderson of Town and Country club, St. Paul, 4 and 3, on the Minnikahda links.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT.

DEAR WAKE: Surprising as it may seem to casual followers of sport, the University of Chicago, which fell down so badly in the big sports last year, won more championships than any other Big Ten college.

In the fall Rudy Knepper, the young Iowa golfer, who went into the finals against Chick Evans in the western amateur at Westmoreland, won the intercollegiate individual title.

During the winter Coach White's swimming team won the conference honors and Coach Hoffer's gymnastic squad was first for the third successive time. This spring, despite the loss of Knepper to Princeton, Maroon golfers won the conference team championship. Then Segal and Vories brought the Big Ten doubles title to the Midway.

Ask any Chicago student if he is not proud of the season's record and he will say, "Hell, no." He would trade all the minor sports honors for a football back who didn't break a leg or shoulder just before the big games start, or for a basketball or track victory.

Bored to death—to them it's nothing

I don't want to be an expert,

When I aviate the pill.

I don't want to be an expert,
For with each shot far and fair,
I would never have another

All the fun is for the slob.
I don't want to be an expert—
Golf to him is just a job.

"Operative H. reports that Mr. Blank went straight home from his office on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday night; on Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday nights he fell asleep on 'L' train and rode to Linden avenue terminal, returning to Argyle station, and then walking home.

SOLLY TRAINING FOR SPEED FOR GO WITH JOE WELLING

The sight of Sailor Freedman hitting the road has been causing certain fight fans on the west side to sit up and take notice. Each morning the Sailor gets out of the hay bright and early and has worn a path around Garfield park by his road work in connection with his training activities for his coming battle with Joe Welling at Aurora on the night of Aug. 5.

JOE WELLING.

Freedman expects to be the fastest ever against Welling and is real ambitious to surprise the fans around Chicago with his speed. Freedman is satisfied with his hitting power and admits all he needs to make him a championship contender is a little more speed.

The Sailor figures with the added speed he will be more aggressive, and, after seeing Midget Smith in action, realizes that the fight fans like a fighter who carries the battle to the other fellow.

In the meantime Joe Welling is putting in his hardest licks at the Ferretti gym getting into shape. Joe likes the idea of coming back to his home in Chicago and fighting before his friends. Joe visited his instructor, Bill O'Connell, the other day. O'Connell is the man who really started Joe in the boxing business.

Welling was a shipping clerk in a State street store when he visited O'Connell and started taking boxing lessons. It was the encouragement of O'Connell which made Welling decide to take up boxing as a profession.

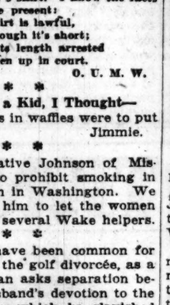
With the battle not quite a week away, Matchmaker Jim Mullin reports a heavy advance sale of seats for the Aurora show.

No Bones Broken, Speaker May Play Again Shortly

Boston, Mass., July 29.—Examination today developed that Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Americans, had torn a ligament in running bases in yesterday's game with Boston, and that there was no fracture.

ONWENTSIA AND DAYTON FOURS IN MEETING TODAY

With a shifted lineup the Onwentsia polo team will meet the Miami Valley Hunt and Polo club of Dayton, O., today at Lake Forest in an effort to reverse the 8 to 7 defeat at the hands of the Ohio four in the last minute of play on Thursday.



With the probability that Lieut. James Breese will be unable to ride because of his injury in the first game, Laurence Armour may be pressed into service, although he has not been able to compete for some time, owing to a smashed hand suffered in practice. If Armour does not play, Campbell probably will be in the Onwentsia lineup.

Meade, one of the Dayton stars, will be back on his pony in No. 1 and will strengthen the visiting team, but the tight battle which the Lake Forest quartet put up Thursday assures another hour of fast riding. The Dayton team will be handicapped four goals.

The public is invited to attend today and general admission has been reduced to 50 cents. A twenty-five piece band from Great Lakes will play between the chukkers. The game is called for 3 o'clock.

Powell and Smith Play for Nebraska Net Title

Omaha, Neb., July 29.—Ralph Powell of Omaha and Philbrook Smith of Ames, Ia., will meet here Saturday for the Nebraska open singles tennis championship. Powell is the present champion and Smith holds the Iowa and Kansas state titles. Miss Claire Daugherty of Omaha defeated Anita Currey, 1920 champion, for the women's singles championship in straight sets, 6—4, 6—1.

LESTER, BASKETBALL STAR, DEAD.

Ottumwa, Ia., July 29.—Edwin T. Lester, 29, well known district and state basketball player, died today following a lingering illness. He was a member of the state high school championship team in 1913, and later was star center of a local aggregation which was runnerup in a national championship basketball meet held in Chicago.

CHICK EVANS REACHES SEMI-FINALS IN GOLF MEET AT MIDLOTHIAN

BY JOE DAVIS.

The Masonic temple is in its accustomed place, no one being able to upset it. For the same reason Chick Evans occupies a place in the semi-finals of Midlothian's open amateur tournament. He bowled over Dewey Weber and young John Gilchrist in the two rounds played yesterday and this morning will meet J. Augustin Mudd Jr. in the top half of the draw. Mudd, it will be recalled, gave Jimmy Johnston of St. Paul a good fight in the western amateur championship at Westmoreland.

Mudd won his spurs in the morning round, when he upset George Hartman, the city champion, 1 up, George taking 42 on the out round. Then in the afternoon Mudd had to step lively to defeat Charley Booth, the Midlothian veteran. The Midlothian man was two holes in front at the eleventh station, but Mudd won the twelfth, squared the match at the sixteenth, and took the last two holes.

McMurray Defeats Schondorf.

In the lower bracket we have Don McMurray, hailing from that thriving golf burg of Highland Park, who trimmed Howard Schondorf of Northwestern university in the second round. He will meet E. Hoover Bankard, who was given a few thrills by Joe McDonald of Calumet in the morning.

They reached the eighteenth tee all square, and Joe topped his ball into the water, but he put his third on the green and had a fifteen foot putt left. Bankard found a bunker and took three to reach the green. Joe missed his putt and Bankard made a downhill putt, winning, 4 to 5, and taking the match 1 up.

In the afternoon Bankard met young Burton Mudge of Exmor, who learned his game at Midlothian. Bankard, after getting a laborious six on the first hole, shot thirteen pars and a birdie, and as Mudge was a trifle wild, Bankard reached the final four by a margin of 6 and 4.

Cards in the McDonald-Bankard match were:

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| McDonald—Out | 4 | 4 | 4 | 4 | 5 | 5 | 5 | 4 | 4 | —39 |
| Bankard—Out | 4 | 3 | 3 | 5 | 4 | 5 | 5 | 4 | 4 | —37 |
| McDonald—In | 5 | 4 | 3 | 4 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 3 | 5 | —36—75 |
| Bankard—In | 5 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 4 | 3 | 5 | 4 | 4 | —37—74 |

Loeb Shoots a Seventy-three.

There were some good matches in the minor flights, Allen Loeb of Ravisloe shooting around 73 to defeat Carl Devol, while C. S. Williams of Bob o' Link showed a steady game in defeating George Hackl Jr. of Lincoln Park, the Cook county champion.

Norman C. Naylor and J. Hoag had the longest match of the day, the latter winning on the twenty-first green, after squaring on the home green with a long putt. On the first extra hole Mr. Naylor missed a two foot putt for a win.

For a brief period in the middle of the day it looked as if it might be necessary to chronicle the falling of that rare commodity known as rain, but the clouds passed and, as has been the case for weeks, the reports stand: Weather clear; track fast.

The semi-final matches in all flights will be staged this morning and the finals in the afternoon.

YANK YACHT FIRST IN RACE THROUGH GALE WITH BRITISH CRAFT

BY AMBROSE LAMBERT.

[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RYDE, ISLE OF WIGHT, July 29.—The first of six races between teams of four American and four British six meter yachts occurred today off Ryde. The honor of being first across the finishing line fell to the American boat Grebe, but this was the only American to finish. The race was held in a rough squall.

It was a disastrous day for Americans, for a few minutes prior to the start, Sheila lost its mast and a minute later, Genie's mainsail was carried away. Thus only two of the American quartet started. When about half around the course, Montauk had a mishap to its spreader and retired, leaving Grebe to fight it out alone.

Brave Bitter Weather.

It was a magnificent individual victory for this tiny boat from homeland, which won by 3 minutes and 45 seconds over the seven and a half mile course.

Those who braved the fierce squall saw as fine sailsmanship as has been known in the Solent. The heavy storm of last night was succeeded by an even more blustering rainy squall this morning, and it was the worst yachting that racing sharps recall in nine years.

The storm was so bad that in the big class only the king's yacht, Britannica, elected to start, and then under a reefed mainsail. Later it was forced to lower this and use the cruising trisail. Noreen, a twenty-nine tonner, was dismasted in the blow. The committee offered to call off the race, but the Americans did not wish to accept this concession to their small craft.

It Points to Britain's 30.

Under the arrangements, six races are to be held. Three are scheduled next week, with two the following week. The scoring is eight points for the winner, seven for second, etc., in decreasing scale, and an additional one point for starting and one point for finishing.

Today's scoring is 30 for Great Britain and 11 for America.

CHICAGO YACHT CLUB RACE TODAY

One design boats and R craft will compete in a series race this afternoon over the Chicago Yacht club's regular course off Belmont harbor. The contest will start at 3 o'clock and eleven one design boats and five R craft will compete. Most of the rest of the fleet are away on their annual cruises.

FLO BRISCOE SEEKS NEW LAURELS.

New York, July 29.—Florence Briscoe, the 14 year old girl who recently won the junior national fancy diving championship, now aspires to lift the senior title. Florence's was the first entry received yesterday for the national championship contest to be held at Brighton Beach Aug. 6.

Woods and Waters by LARRY ST. JOHN

LAKE KEGONSA, Wis.—Lake Kegonsa is in Dane county, 124 miles from Chicago on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway. There is a station at the lake—Lake Kegonsa station—until Sept. 1, after which you disembark at Stoughton, which is two miles from the lake. The lake is about three miles long and two mile wide and connects by channel with Lake Waubesa.

Black bass and pickerel fishing is fairly good in this lake, although it is not an extra good casting lake, most of it being too deep for this kind of fishing. For deep trolling, drifting or "soaking," or for still fishing in fairly deep water, this lake is exceptionally good, especially in the early summer and early autumn. Wall eyes are plentiful in Kegonsa and run to good size, while the white or silver bass found in this lake are noted for their size, fighting ability and table qualities.

Accommodations at the lake are good. There are several good resorts that take care of fishermen, boats may be rented and minnows bought.—Contributed by C. S. McMillan.

TENNIS VOLLEYS

FOUR well matched doubles teams will meet at the South Park club tomorrow afternoon in the semi-finals and finals of the special tennis doubles tourney, which is to assure funds for the expenses of Chicago junior stars to the national championships in the east.

The makeup of the teams follows:

South Park club—Alan Wylie and Ralph Rice.

Sherwood club—Harold McLaughlin and J. F. Day.

Chicago club—John Kenfield and W. S. Miller.

South Side club—Harry F. Vories Jr. and Harold Ingersol.

In addition to the tourney matches, Walter Hayes and Clifton Herd will engage Alex Squair and Jimmy Qeber in an exhibtion doubles contest. Play will start at 2 o'clock. The South Park club is located at 62d street and Calumet avenue.

MARY DEFEATS MAY IN FINAL OF NEW YORK TENNIS

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—In the fastest and most finished tennis ever played by women on an eastern court, Miss Mary K. Browne of San Francisco defeated Mrs. May Sutton Bundy of Los Angeles this afternoon in the final round of the women's New York state championship tournament at the Crescent Athletic club. The scores of the three keenly spirited and exciting sets were 2—6, 6—3, 6—4.

Miss Browne will meet Miss Marie Wagner tomorrow afternoon in the challenge round for the title.

Break Goes Against May.

So evenly were the two coast stars matched that but the slightest break was sufficient in the third set to decide the issue. This break came in the seventh game.

Mrs. Bundy, after losing the first three games of the rubber session, made a fine and spectacular uphill fight and took the next three. The succeeding game ran to deuce and in the following rally Mrs. Bundy had an easy chance for a kill. She flubbed it.

Mary Connects in Pinch.

On the next exchange Miss Browne was presented with an equally easy overhead shot. She made it and took the game.

This was on Mrs. Bundy's service and gave Miss Browne the advantage in games at 4—3, where a reversal at this critical stage might, and probably would have, changed the complexion of the entire match.

WILLIAMS BEATS JAP NET STAR IN LONGWOOD FINAL

Boston, Mass., July 29.—Richard Norris Williams II. of Boston decisively defeated Zenzo Shimidzu of Japan in straight sets today in the final match of the lawn tennis tournament for the Longwood bowl, 6—3, 7—5, 6—4.

Williams will face William M. Johnston of San Francisco tomorrow in the challenge round.

In the doubles Shimidzu and his Davis cup teammate, Ichiya Kumagae, reached the final round through their victory over Wallace F. Johnson and Harry C. Johnson in straight sets. The Japanese team will face Raymond D. Bidwell and W. E. Porter Jr., Massachusetts doubles champions, in the final round tomorrow.

Poor Working Girl Finds Happiness in the Last Reel

"THE INNER CHAMBER"

Produced by Vitagraph.
Directed by Edward Jose.
Presented at the Bijou Dream.

THE CAST.

Claire Robson ..... Alice Joyce
Mrs. Robson ..... Jane Jennings
Dr. Danilo ..... Pedro de Cordoba
Wellman ..... Holmes E. Herbert
Flint ..... John Webb Dillon
Mrs. Flint ..... Grace Barton
Nellie MacGuire ..... Josephine Whittell
Mrs. Candor ..... Mrs. De Wolf Hopper

By Mae Tinée.

I CAN'T just see you turning enthusiastic mental somersaults over the story of "The Inner Chamber," but I can see you waxing (love that word?) quite rapturous over the acting of every single person in the cast.

Miss Joyce, who is beautiful—as she was in the beginning, and wasn't for quite a while—is shown as a poor working girl, sole support of one of the dearest white-haired screen mothers you have ever seen. A villain employer—the kind the movies love to make say, "It's entirely up to you, little girl, whether you remain my secretary or not, ahem"—employs and discharges her. Reason obvious. There comes to her rescue a lovely millionaire philanthropist, who persuades a lady who sings to engage her as accompanist. (The heroine is an accomplished poor working girl, you see.)

The lady who sings is not supposed to tell who is paying the beautiful accompanist's salary. She is a jealous cat, however, and sees to it that the story gets around. The poor working girl is then driven to singing in an Italian café.

Here she meets a Dr. Danilo, who is vurr' famous. He becomes interested in her and insists on coming to see the working girl's mother, who, alas has had a stroke. He cures her and a wedding takes place. But on the fatal wedding night he discovers that the philanthropist, who is also his best friend, and his wife have met before. He breaks all the furniture, shoots at the bride, and shoots himself. He dies.

And in the end the poor working girl finds happiness in the arms of the philanthropist, whose wife (she's been in the insane asylum for twelve years) dies just in time for a happy finale.

Pretty blood-and-thundery, but well put on, acted, and directed. You will like all the leads and will have lots of fun over Miss Whittell's portrayal of a rowdy but good-hearted and strictly "straight" girl friend. And as a "cat" Mrs. Hopper has class!

CLOSEUPS

Marguerite De Lamotte wants the world to know that her romance with Mitchell Leison is off. She says she is engaged no longer.

The stork is said to be stalking around the new Tom Moore domicile. Mr. Moore, you will remember, is now the husband of Renee Adoree.

What should be a good picture is Vitagraph's coming "Flower of the North." Henry B. Walthall will be featured and Paulina Starke will support him.

Pola Negri in "Gypsy Blood" will be the attraction at Ravinia next Monday night.

HAROLD TEEN—THEN HAROLD WOULDN'T WANT HER!

WHEN Y'STOP TO FIGGER IT OUT, THIS SURE IS A FUNNY OLD WORLD— NOW TAKE MY CASE AS A EXAMPLE—
THERE'S THAT FAT GWENDOLYN SWEET—SHE FOLLAS ME AROUND LIKE A SHADOW— ALL'A TIME HINTING I SHOULD PROPOSE—AND SHOOTIN' A LOT OF OTHER MUSHY STUFF AT ME——AND I DONT CARE ONE SNAP ABOUT HER—SHE BORES ME TO TEARS— THEN TAKE ULLUMS FRINSTANCE— SHE'S ONE OF TH' SWEETEST CREATURES IN 9 STATES—BUT Y'DONT CATCH HER THROWIN' HERSELF AT ME— NO SIREE—
—ALL TH' SOFT WORDS AND ENDEARING STUFF I SHOOT AT HER, ROLLS PAST HER LIKE WATER OFF A DUCK'S BACK— WHY, OH, WHY CAN'T SHE BE MORE LIKE GWENNIE?

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—Introducing dotted Swiss in its familiar act of yodeling across the snowy Alpine ridges of white organdy. This famous attraction of the Chautauqua dress circuit is performed here with more than its accusomed skill and vigor, and is accompanied by narrow black velvet ribbon forming the diamond motifs on the skirt, the miniature bows on sleeves and corsage, and outlining the tucks which occur on the intermediate section of white organdy.

And, by the way, the diamond motif is used widely on summer frocks of various types. A favored version is that of red and white checked gingham on white organdy frock.

Of course, the dress material here is red Swiss with white dots. For "pill box" red continues to ravage the land and to suggest to the embittered observer that the box is harder to take than its contents.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

"I am wondering if some of your readers have any clothing that would be suitable for children—girls 11, 8, and 6, boys 5 and 3 years. I have seven children—a baby 5 weeks old—and my boy has been in hospital with diphtheria. I have four children who must go back to school in September, and I thought some of your readers might have clothes that I could make over. My husband has lost lots of work this summer, and with so many to feed and clothe I find my problem will be a hard one in the next few weeks. I am sure you have helped others and I trust your readers will be able to lift a little of the burden that rests on me just now. Mrs. L. M."

This seems a good chance for us to put to use our children's outgrown clothing of a year or two ago. Surely some one's clothes closet can yield something that will spell school to Mrs. M.'s children in September.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Romance and Refreshments.

When I was a young fellow, shy and self-conscious, I went to a church sociable. I escorted three charming girls with angelic countenances and human appetites out to the refreshment table. After they had eaten all they wanted I found that I had left my pocketbook at home. A deaf man whom I had never seen before was at the cashier's desk. My face aflame, I went down and said softly:

"I regret to say that I have, unfortunately, come away without any change to——"

"Change two?" chirped the old man. "O, yes, I can—five, if you want it."

A crowd of people was waiting impatiently to pay their bills and get away.

Finally I shouted: "I have no money," and I was ready to sink into the earth, while all the people, especially the three girls I had treated, were giggling and chuckling audibly. Some of the church members came up to see what the uproar was, and, recognizing me, made it all right with the cashier. D. K.

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF THE CHILDREN

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Aunty Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

I sent Rosie to the store with a note. The proprietor could not read English, it seems. Rosie came back all excited and said to me, "The man, he says he can't read. Maybe you better draw a picture of it." E. B. B.

Ruth was sitting on the floor playing with her doll, while mother rocked baby sister.

Suddenly she looked up and remarked: "I'm the doll's muvver and you're the drammuver, and what 'lation is the baby."

Mother replied, "O, I s'pose she's the doll's auntie, but who's the doll's papa?"

Ruth looked puzzled a minute and then replied, "O, dolls don't wear papas." R. R. W.

Jack came home from visiting the new boy in the neighborhood.

"His mother is so petty," confided Jack to his own mother.

"Do you mean she is cross?" asked the surprised woman.

"No, she is petty and awful nice," returned Jack.

"But how can she be nice if she is petty?" called big sister.

"Don't you know?" said Jack. "She pets her boy, and calls him pet names. J. T. T.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

WORRIED: THE CRUSTS THAT accumulate on granulated lids can be soaked off with a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda. Red lids are due to reading and working under a poor light which produces strain. Read with a light that will shed its rays directly over the left shoulder.

BIRTHMARK: NONE BUT A SURgeon or physician should be allowed to treat a birthmark. They sometimes use the X-ray and radium treatment; also carbon dioxide snow. The latter freezes the tissue to which it is applied, so it needs surgical training to operate with it. No one can explain birthmarks, but it is said one third of all new-born infants have them. Don't take a chance on a hideous scar by allowing an unqualified person to tamper with moles or any other kind of birthmark.

M. J.: YOUR THROAT, EAR, AND breathing troubles are for a physician to advise upon. You are in a fairly bad way, I'm thinking, and you should not delay.

What Will You Give Him For Dinner Tonight?

Do you know there are countless tempting ways to serve Hawaiian Canned Pineapple, particularly in its Crushed or Grated form?

For instance, this delicious fruit makes a wonderfully good pie and it is very easy to prepare.

With a little lettuce, a bit of cream cheese and Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Pineapple you can quickly fix a luscious salad.

Here are two recipes, try them today.

Pineapple Pie

—Beat ¼ cupful butter, 1 cupful sugar and yolks of 3 eggs to a cream. Add 1 can Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Pineapple. Dissolve 1 tablespoonful cornstarch in a cup of sweet cream and add to the pineapple. Mix thoroughly. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff and fold in lightly. Have ready a pie tin lined with crust. Fill with the pineapple mixture and bake in a moderate oven.

Pineapple and Cheese Salad

—1½ tablespoons granulated gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 1½ cups boiling water, ¾ cup Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Pineapple, ¼ cup sugar, small package of cream cheese. Soak gelatine twenty minutes in cold water, dissolve in boiling water, add sugar and then add the pineapple. Pour half of the mixture into a wet mould and chill. Soften the cream cheese with a little cream and form into small balls. When the mixture in the mould begins to stiffen, arrange the balls of cheese in any form desired in the moulded jelly. Add the remainder of the mixture and set on ice until stiff. When ready to serve, unmould on a bed of lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

You can buy Hawaiian Crushed or Grated Pineapple at your grocer's. He has it in assorted sizes to suit your needs.

It is a good plan to order a half dozen or a dozen tins, because this fruit keeps perfectly until you are ready for its use, and it will always come in handy.

It is prime Hawaiian Pineapple that has been fully ripened in the sun, picked in the first few hours of its ripeness and sealed in its shining clean container before sundown that same day.

All soda fountains serve Crushed or Grated Hawaiian Canned Pineapple. Try a Pineapple Sundae next time you wonder what you want.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Avacado or Aguacate.

One of the forty names of the alligator pear, which is most generally called avacado by the growers, is aguacate. One of the earliest clippings I have on the subject, with the date 1887, which our horticultural journals of 1850 or thereabouts exploited a bit, begins: "These are aguacates, alligator pears, or vegetable butter, or whatever of the several names you are pleased to call them. They come from Cuba."

This was a bit of conversation of a market man who was fixing up a basket of them for the navy yard, taking them from what was described as "a heap of glossy, green fruit, looking like Hubbard squashes in miniature."

The market man has this to say about the salad: "To make a first class aguacate salad, you must have Spanish onions. Peel the onion, cut it in thin slices, lay it in your salad dish on a bed of bleached lettuce, if you want to. Then peel your aguacate, remove the large pit and cut the fruit in slices; lay it on the onion—they must all be ice cold—then pour your mayonnaise dressing over them or in the center of a ring of sliced aguacates arranged on the onion, and the salad is ready."

To the uninitiated that pit of the alligator pear is a real curiosity, but there are several other tropical edibles that have a similarly large pit or stone.

By the way, I have a number of commercial leaflets yet containing eight salad recipes and some excellent general directions which I should be glad to send to any one sending addressed and stamped envelope. It emphasizes the chilling or icing of all ingredients in the avacado salads.

U. of I. Shafts for Suburban Heroes

Edward Hall Berry of Oak Park and Harold Gordes Schreiner of River Forest will have columns dedicated to their honor in the new University of Illinois stadium.

Berry died in the service Oct. 29, 1918. He was one of the first Oak Park men to volunteer. He became a staff officer and was en route to France for action when stricken with influenza.

Schreiner died in the service Oct. 4, 1918.

According to a plan adopted by the stadium committee, columns will be erected to each of the 183 Illinois alumni and students who were killed in the world war. The memorial columns will be directly in front of the stadium gridiron and will surround a court of honor in which is planned a Greek theater with a seating capacity of 10,000. Practically $700,000 has already been raised for the stadium, and it is expected that more than $1,500,000 will be pledged in a campaign next fall.

Bostonians O. K. Stenos Wearing Knickerbockers

Boston, Mass., July 29.—That the knickerbocker suit for women is beginning to "take" with the girls of Boston, Mayor Peters, after receiving Miss Hazel Sears, a petite brunette, who was wearing 'em, said he quite approved. Business men have written to the Boston Post, which first presented the style, in a United News story from New York, saying they'd have no more objections to stenographers in knickerbockers writing their letters than they have to stenos in knee length skirts.

"The introduction of the knickerbocker suit is one more indication of the increasing freedom that women have won," Miss Marion May of Cambridge declared. "The knickerbocker has all the points of economy, modesty, smartness, and comfort, and leaves plenty of room for originality."

If Truth Prevails Ireland Will Have Peace, Says Pastor

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

Lord, help us to remember what we ought never to forget, and help us to forget what we ought never to remember.

THIS quaint prayer of an old Irish monk should be the prayer of every Irishman today who desires peace in Ireland," said the Rev. James R. Clinton of Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland, last night at St. Paul's Methodist church, Ashland avenue and Harrison street.

The Rev. Mr. Clinton, who is visiting friends in the United States, declared his visit is unofficial, as he claims to represent no political faction or party and is not here to raise any funds for Ireland.

The Rev. Mr. Clinton said he was delighted with the sympathetic reaction to the Irish situation which he has found wherever he has been in the United States and Canada during the last two months. He has been preaching in Methodist, Presbyterian, and Union churches in New York, London, Ontario, Montreal, Buffalo, Chicago, Philadelphia, Jersey City, and will visit Iowa before he returns to Ireland.

"All that is needed for the peace and prosperity of Ireland," he said, "is for the people to settle down to their work. Born under the British flag, the people of Ireland have prospered under that ensign, and, please God, we are determined to die under the folds of that flag. Our plea is that truth may prevail in Ireland, and our prayer is not for political freedom but for moral freedom and peace among the people of our native land."

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Have No Regrets.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 18 years old, and have been going with a young man of the same age. He seems to be fast when taking me out. I, not liking his actions, gave him up. Please inform me as to whether I did right in doing so. M. C. M."

You know you're right, M. C. M. You wouldn't have stopped going out with him if he had been a gentleman. Now, don't go and spoil it all by wonderings and regrets which you should not entertain. There are any number of nice young men running around footloose and fancy free, so a girl does not have to submit herself to the attentions of an undesirable.

[and all the people who are not playwrights would like to be]

WHAT sort of an age are we living in? Hectic? Some people call it hectic, others restless, still others plain mad.

Whatever sort of an age it is, it is one that demands amusement of every conceivable sort; tolerates instruction, lives on music (good and bad) and generally requires a deal of attention in its diversions.

So all good newspapers devote much space to amusements, music, literature, art and kindred subjects, mixing the artistic and the inartistic in a jangling potpourri, leaving it to the individual taste of the reader to distinguish the point of interest.

The Saturday edition of the EVENING AMERICAN is famous for its treatment of such news. A sparkling section is devoted to it each Saturday, including among other features—

DEVRIES and MUSIC

EITHER fine musicians have no time to study writing, or fine writers have no time to study music. In any case, there are few, very few, men who write about music interestingly and instructively. Herman Devries is one. He knows music, and his criticisms and general writing combine high literary quality with depth of feeling and profound knowledge of his subject. Mr. Devries is an exclusive contributor to the Evening American, and to know Chicago's splendid contributions to the world of music, you must follow him.

The REEL FAMILY, ROB and VIRGINIA

What "The Optimist" is to the spoken drama, these two keen observers are to the silver screen. And it isn't just the Rialto they cover; it is the whole big city of Chicago, wherever good motion pictures are shown. Their criticisms are accurate and interesting, and above all complete. (A word about advertising, although it is not supposed to be mentioned here: The Motion Picture Calendar of the Evening American is a complete directory to the best theatres in the city, and is consulted every day by hundreds of thousands of movie fans.)

The PICTURES are interesting, too

Stars of the silent and spoken drama are pictured each Saturday in the amusement section, together with interesting items concerning their lives and professional attainments.

And every day the MOVIE PAGE

Rarely a day passes that Rob Reel or Virginia Reel does not review some new picture, telling you what it is in plain, everyday language.

The SPOKEN DRAMA

Dramatic criticism to the first-nighter is very much like baseball criticism to the fan. The baseball fan will sit through a hot scrimmage, see every play that is made, and then turn first to the story of the game when he gets his paper. Your first-nighter turns to somebody else's criticism of the thing he saw, and woe betide the critic whose views are at variance with his own! So pity "The Optimist," who "does" the Rialto for Evening American readers. He can write only what he thinks, and if we all thought alike, perhaps we wouldn't have any shows at all! But for all the news of all the shows, good, bad and indifferent, "The Optimist" is a most important man to know.

The NEWS of NEW BOOKS

There's a vast difference between a book "criticism" and a book "review." The first is just what it implies—somebody's criticism of what somebody else has done. The latter is a news story about what someone has done, and the criticism is left to the reader. If you follow the critics, you follow a groove of their making. If you follow the reviews, you follow your own bent, read what you like to read and not what someone says you will like. So it is the news about books that you find in the Evening American, well written and timely.

WILL HOLLINGSWORTH writes about ART

Our great Art Institute is said to be the most unappreciated spot in Chicago. Perhaps that is because so many people think anything artistic is necessarily "high-brow." Wrong. An Italian ditch digger will stand in awe of a marble masterpiece, while a rich sojourner on the Drive will pronounce Corot like a vegetable. Will Hollingsworth is an artist as well as a writer, and his column in the Evening American is doing much to create interest in the plastic arts among Chicago's millions.

WHAT'S GOING ON in town

An interesting feature of the Saturday edition of the Evening American is a complete calendar of the ensuing week's amusement events. Care is taken to omit no item from this calendar which would impair its completeness, and readers of the Evening American are thus provided each week with a full list of what is going on in town.

These are additional features which go to make the EVENING AMERICAN a good newspaper. Frank, unbiased treatment of the news of the arts and amusements which instruct and entertain appeals strongly to a large percentage of the EVENING AMERICAN'S over 1,200,000 daily readers

CITY HALL BACKS UP; OPENS BOOKS ON EXPERT FEES

Shows Vouchers as Court Is About to Act.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The city administration backed up, turned around and granted permission yesterday for an inspection of the warrants and vouchers through which the five building and real estate experts obtained $2,742,000 within approximately one year. Accordingly, it is expected that the mandamus suit started by Aldermen Schwartz, Guernsey and Woodhull, to compel Deputy City Controller Gosselin to show the city records, will be dismissed this morning. It was this suit which probably influenced the change in the administration's policy.

It was filed last week, and to it the city demurred Thursday. Judge Brothers overruled the demurrer; then the city asked time to file an answer. That was due yesterday. Meantime the aldermen had subpœnaed the city's experts to appear as witnesses.

Threaten Appeal; Then Back Up.

So yesterday the administration filed no answer, although there were in court from the corporation counsel's office Chester Cleveland, James W. Breen, Carl Appel, and Frank Derby. They elected to stand on their demurrer. Then Judge Brothers indicated that he would order a mandamus issued. The administration lawyers said they would appeal the case.

At this point the tide turned in favor of the aldermen. Their lawyers, Lewis Hart and Lawrence Cohen, contended that the city administration must file a bond to appeal, and they were prepared to urge that the amount of the bond be more than $5,000,000—twice the amount of the fees involved.

Mr. Cleveland contended that no bond was necessary, and read a statute saying that no bond shall be required of a city official in an appeal "acting for the benefit of the public."

Not Acting for Public Benefit.

"But the deputy controller is not acting for the benefit of the public," replied Attorney Hart. He cited a case from Washington wherein a bond was required of a public official who was not acting for the benefit of the public, in the opinion of the court. He went on:

"The enormous sum of more than $2,700,000 has been paid to the experts and it is the evident purpose of the deputy controller to prevent aldermen from getting information regarding these payments."

"Any one can see the warrants and vouchers," said Cleveland. "They have been seen and printed a number of times."

"We will take you at your word," replied Hart, "and ask that the proceeding here be held in abeyance until we look at the records."

Doesn't Want Tribune to See.

Then the attorneys went to the controller's office and the warrants and vouchers were produced and the attorneys began looking them over. Cleveland announced as the controller's office was approached that the privilege of looking at the records was denied the representative of THE TRIBUNE. When Mr. Cleveland later emerged he again said that he did not want the representative of THE TRIBUNE to view the warrants and vouchers, but two representatives of THE TRIBUNE did inspect the warrants for as long as they seemed it worth while.

Earlier in the day Mr. Cleveland in court said that any one could inspect the records, but evidently Mr. Hart did not take the assistant corporation counsel seriously because he said:

"Any one can't. The aldermen went to the deputy controller's office and asked for the warrants and vouchers and were denied them by Deputy Controller Gosselin. He said that no de- was in any form would get them."

"A taxpayer has the right to look at the official records," started Attorney Cohen, but was stopped by Judge Brothers with:

"Of course taxpayers have a right under certain circumstances."

"Counsel [Cleveland] is begging the question when he says any one can see the records," said Hart, "because we have been there and met with a flat refusal."

Inspection Reveals New Name.

Soon after the inspection started Attorneys Hart and Cohen developed an entirely new name in connection with the expert fee payments. The attorneys were under the impression that only the controller and deputy controller have authority to sign warrants.

As one after another warrants were inspected the attorneys became accustomed to the signature of "Louis E. Gosselin" and "L. E. Gosselin." Suddenly they came upon a signature of Gosselin which did not correspond with others noticed.

"Who signed that?" asked Attorney Hart of one of the clerks assigned to watch the warrants while they were inspected.

"That is Mr. Gosselin's name in the handwriting of R. J. Battis," replied the clerk.

Battis is chief clerk of the office. He is the man who sold the tickets to the Riverview picnic to the controller's employés. He is also the man who recently is credited with attempting to increase his own salary after the finance committee and city council had refused to grant the increase.

Several other warrants were found which the attorneys asserted are also in the handwriting of Mr. Battis. When Battis was a witness before the committee he did not appear to know much about the payments to the experts. He gave the impression that he had nothing to do with that work.

Another discovery was the indorsement of two warrants by Edward C. Waller Jr. to Ernest H. Lyons, both real estate experts. No information was obtained regarding the reason for these indorsements. Still another warrant was made payable to "Ernest C. Waller" instead of to Edward C. Waller Jr., who indorsed and cashed it.

CITY HALL JOB ROW ENDS; 300 WILL DRAW PAY

Many of Mayor's Aids Doomed by Truce.

Nearly 300 city hall employés will receive their first pay in more than a month today and Monday as the result of an armistice agreed to yesterday between the council finance committee and the city administration.

The council, on the committee's recommendation, ordered 264 Lundin-Thompson workers off the pay roll, directing that civil service examinations be held to fill their places. The administration, through its merit board retaliated by refusing to certify pay rolls for ninety Democrats employed in the city clerk's office and the vehicle license bureau.

Must Drop Four Out of Every Ten.

Both sides claimed victory when the truce was finally agreed to by Ald. John S. Clark, representing the committee, and Acting Corporation Counsel James W. Breen, acting for the administration.

Under the agreement 40 per cent of last year's appropriation for these 264 temporaries must be through layoffs which means that four out of every ten of them will lose their jobs, according to members of the finance committee.

All License Employés Retained.

All the sixty-one employés of the vehicle license bureau retain their jobs with pay from July 1. Of these forty-one are Democrats.

Policeman Accused as Masher, Gets Head Cut

Patrolman Glen Dawson of the town hall station suffered a gash in his head last night, and Frank Osborn Jr., 3416 Southport avenue, Dawson's alleged assailant, is under arrest. Osborn asserts the policeman sought to make an appointment with Mrs. Neil Stair of Texas, Osborn's sister. Mrs. Stair is visiting at the Osborn residence, and Dawson travels beat in the neighborhood.

Great "Perpetual Motion" Inventor Stopped Here

D. W. Coleman, inventor of what he terms a perpetual motion motor, was arrested yesterday and held in $5,000 bonds on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Postal Inspector Frank N. Davis had received warrants from Philadelphia, where it is alleged Coleman got $40,000. Coleman pleaded he had returned $10,000 and was trying to raise the rest.

O'CONNOR TO BE IN CHICAGO JAIL THIS MORNING

Slipped Out of St. Paul to Dodge Theft Charge.

BULLETIN.

HUDSON, Wis., July 30.—[Special.]—En route to Chicago with Tommy O'Connor and James Gallagher, doubly handcuffed and with two pairs of shackles encircling their ankles, Chief Hughes' special car left this place at midnight. Sergts. Boschulte and Egan drew first watch and with revolvers in hand will sit up half the night guarding the most welcome prisoners the Chicago detective bureau has awaited in years. Chief Hughes and Capt. Naughton will sleep with an eye apiece open. Sergts. Tapscott and McCarthy will take charge of the prisoners at 6.

Chief Hughes revealed tonight the necessity of hastening the prisoners out of the state when he disclosed the fact that the Minneapolis police were scarcely 10 minutes behind and pursued them to the state line.

"Tommy" O'Connor, alleged slayer of Sergt. Patrick O'Neill, Jimmy Cherin, and others, and James Gallagher, alleged bank robber and murderer, will be jailed in Chicago this morning. They were rushed out of St. Paul last night by the Chicago police and taken to Hudson, Wis.

Chief of Detectives Hughes, heading the detail sent to bring the prisoners to Chicago, had heard the prized O'Connor was wanted in Minneapolis in connection with a $16,000 pay roll robbery three years ago.

County Attorney Floyd Olson of Minneapolis, had demanded the prisoner of the St. Paul authorities, but when he learned O'Connor was no longer in St. Paul he charged the Chicago police with "kidnaping."

Hears of Kidnaping Plot.

Hughes was taking no chances. Chief of Police Fitzmorris had heard that a number of O'Connor's pals, including Tom Tuohy, alleged safe blower, had planned to rescue him from the police.

"We know at least three of O'Connor's toughest pals have left for St. Paul with the intention of rescuing him," said Fitzmorris. "They will go the limit, for they know if they fail him and he ever gets the chance he will kill them as he did Jimmy Cherin."

O'Connor, looking more like "Sentimental Tommy" than "Tom the Terrible," agreed to return to Chicago with the police after Hughes had assured him he would not be harmed, and Assistant State's Attorney Lloyd Heth had promised him a speedy trial. Mr. Heth has made arrangements with Judge Hugo Pam to bring O'Connor before him Monday, if possible.

"Who's going to try me," O'Connor asked.

"I am," said Heth.

"Then I'll get a square deal. Of course I didn't kill O'Neill. I've been accused of many things I didn't do. I was in the Illinois Central job when Dennis Tierney was killed, but I didn't kill him. And as for O'Neill, I wasn't even in Chicago at the time."

Blames Liquor and Yokels.

O'Connor seemed pleased to meet everybody. He smiled pleasantly and shook hands.

"I had $50 and a craving for liquor," he explained. "I ran against some yokels, and here I am."

Besides his three automatics, O'Connor had in his possession when arrested six clips full of bullets, a rosary, two medals, a scapular, and a printed prayer.

"You won't kill me if I let you take me back?" he asked Chief Hughes.

"No, Tommy," said the chief soothingly, "we won't kill you. We're going to hang you. That's all."

DENNER'S BODY TO BE EXHUMED IN POISON MYSTERY

The body of John Denner, the third person believed to have come to his death in the Kolze house of mystery on the Old Mill farm in Schiller Park, will be exhumed tomorrow under unusual circumstances. Sergeants Joseph Mallow and Stephen Leddy will go to Colby, Wis., with an order from Judge John J. Sullivan authorizing the exhumation in order to have Denner's vital organs examined for arsenic poisoning.

Denner died eight years ago on the Kolze farm. It was said his death followed the drinking of a glass of cold water while he was overheated from work in the fields. Fred Kolze's wife died about the same time. A chemical examination is now being made in the belief she was poisoned.

MEN ARE LIKE THAT

BY CLARA E. LAUGHLIN

HOME AGAIN.

Sallie saw little of France except Paris, which reveals itself as the heart of France only to those who know the arteries—the great, white, poplar lined roads, the rivers and canals, up and down which the life current of France flows to and from the heart. But she saw and felt more than enough to make her brimming full of ecstasy.

She saw springtime—saw the chestnut trees in bloom, and the acacias; saw wistaria riot over old gray, stucco cottages, and myriad plumes of burdened lilac bushes nod over lichened walls; saw apple blossom time in Normandy (on a brief trip she made to Rouen) and wild flowers growing by the banks of Marne. She saw the forests of Fontainebleau and Chantilly, of St. Germain and Compiègne, in their most delicate fresh loveliness; saw the Bois blossom with wedding parties and the Luxembourg Gardens with joyous children enchanting in their play.

Jay Sudduth engaged a big car for the duration of his stay, and included Sallie and her mother on all excursions out of town. He took them, too, to all the leading restaurants, for dinners; and occasionally to see the night life of Paris, most of which bored Sallie as exceedingly as midnight affairs on Broadway.

Late in May they sailed for home from Cherbourg. Ben Lester was aboard, having embarked at Southampton. But the earl and countess had deferred their coming until late August, and Mrs. Fairweather would not come much in advance of them—only just long enough, perhaps, to make ready for their visit.

Company rehearsals for "Uncle Sam's Girl" would not begin until July; but Sallie felt that she must have some weeks of individual coaching and rehearsing before she attempted even to meet with the company being engaged to support her. Ben Lester was charged with coaching her, and she could scarcely have had a better. And there were to be enough weeks of try-out in small places to give Sallie some footlight experience before opening in New York.

At best, it was a tremendously nervy thing to do, and Sallie began to realize it, fearfully, as soon as the twinkling shores of France had faded from her straining sight, and the prow of their ship was pointed determinedly through the deepening night toward home.

She had a copy of the script that Sudduth had brought over. Very little of it, probably, would appear in the version that finally reached Broadway; but it was something to begin on, a point of departure; and she and Lester went over it a dozen times and more on the voyage, discussing the business of her part, practicing voice inflections, rehearsing bits, and so on.

Jim was on the pier, herded with hundreds of other watchers, behind the railings which separated the waiting crowd from the vast space that was to receive the outpouring of passengers and luggage. He had taken the day off from the office, and went to the pier early, so as to get a station close to the fence.

Sallie left her mother to see that their luggage and their trunks from the hold were collected under the big letter B to wait the customs inspector, and ran straight toward the crowd at the back of the piers, hoping for at least a glimpse of Jim.

"I think," he said, after their first greetings were over, "that you can get yourself passed through the gate so you can come into the waiting room and talk to me, instead of sitting on your trunk till your inspector comes."

He went to the gate and made the request for her; and a minute later they were in a corner of the crowded waiting room, gazing into each other's eyes, too supremely happy to be able to say much of all that was in their hearts to say.

"Do I seem any different?" she asked rather shyly.

"Yes," he answered, "I think you do. I'm not able to say just how, but I think I feel a difference."

"Are you disappointed?"

He smiled at her.

"Dreadfully!" he said.

"What's the matter with me?"

"Well," critically, "you're prettier, and of course I hate that. And I've a suspicion that you're sweeter than ever, which is dangerous. Then—shall I go on?"

"Yes, yes; I must know the worst."

"Then, you strike me as a young person who may have learned to make up her mind what she ought to do, and do it. I may find you hard to manage."

"I think you will! Is that all?"

"O, dear no! Lots more. But how about me? How does a laboring man look to you, after princes and dukes and earls and things?"

"He looks kind of slicked up," she said, appraisingly.

"That's for today—very special; it won't last. What else?"

"O, I can't say, Precious! I know that Riley must have been thinking of a man exactly like you when he said, 'The day God made Jim, I bet He didn't do nothin' else but jest set around and feel good.'"

"Think a plain man can please you, after all you've seen?"

"I don't think you're a plain man, at all!" she objected; "except as most all our great men, in this country, have been plain."

"Dear me!" Jim murmured; "you overwhelm me, Missie."

"Well! You would go fishing."

She told him about her study with Lester, during the voyage.

"I can hardly wait to have you and Mr. Lester meet," she said. "But today I won't share you with anyone."

"I should say you won't!" he declared. "I've got my trusty charger or roadster all fed up and slicked and waiting to take you out knee-deep in June somewhere, as soon as you get your finery out of your Uncle Sam's clutches. I hope he doesn't keep you here on the pier all day."

It was a long wait on the pier, as it nearly always is; but nobody minded it less than Sallie and Jim. And when she was free to go, she climbed into that familiar roadster and sped off with him to talk and talk, till near midnight—now young lover talk, gleeful and fond and perhaps (to some notions) foolish; now gossipy—"all about who and what;" now idealistic and earnest; now intensely personal and full of plans.

Jim was discovering a quite different Sallie, and satisfying himself not only that he loved her better than ever, but that she seemed more than ever in love with him.

And Sallie was finding that the more she grew, the more her love meant to her, which is one of the most beautiful realizations that life can bring to any one.

Bankrupt Charged with Hiding $30,000 Assets

Joseph Grossman, a produce merchant at 8 West South Water street, was held to the federal grand jury in $5,000 bonds yesterday by Commissioner Glass, charged with concealing $30,000 worth of assets after having gone into bankruptcy.

Identifies Body Taken from Lake as That of His Sister

The body of a woman taken from the lake at the 78th street beach yesterday by Life Guard Harry Wall was identified several hours later by Hilliard C. Gore, 5329 Greenwood avenue, as that of his sister Elizabeth, 42 years old.

Mrs. Rowland Sues for Insurance of Husband

Mrs. Lillian Rowland, acquitted of shooting her husband, Dr. Thomas J. Rowland, after she had testified the killing was accidental, yesterday started a $10,000 suit against the Federal Life Insurance company to collect on her husband's insurance policy.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you think that the indicted White Sox, who may be freed in court, should be reinstated into organized baseball?

Where Asked.

Municipal pier.

The Answers.

Dr. Delbert Blender, 1403 Marshall Field annex, physician—Yes. As the court saw fit to free them, that just about proves their innocence, and if that is the case why not give them the chance to prove to the public that they are square players? They were in an unfortunate situation and should be given a chance.

Mildred Wakelee, 403 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, home girl—Yes. They should be allowed to play in organized baseball, now that they have been freed by the court. If they had been guilty of the charges made against them they would not have been granted their freedom, would they?

M. T. Kenny, 634 West 68th street, salesman—I think they should be reinstated. The testimony offered by the state's witnesses was not of the nature to prove the guilt of any of them, and if the jury acquits them they surely should have the opportunity to play again.

Zella Wakelee, 403 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, office attendant—Sure I do. Why shouldn't they be reinstated? If they have proven they are innocent to the court's satisfaction, or if the state has not proven their guilt, they should have their chance. They are entitled to the jobs from which they were taken.

H. F. Ray, 530 North Clark street, machinist—Yes, I think so. If they have been all this time trying to convict them and have been unable to do so, it seems they must be all right. What about the other fellows now? What are they going to do with them if they prove that they didn't have a hand in the supposed crooked work?

Is Warren C. Spurgin, defaulting president of the Michigan Avenue Trust and Savings bank, in Irvington or South Orchards, Ala., Montreal or Toronto, Canada, Ouray, Colo., Mexico, or on a fast yacht fleeing for Honduras?

Police, attaches of the state's attorney's office, Pinkerton and Burns and Lloyd's detectives each were following clews leading to one or more of these places last night. Some of these have been investigated for a week or more; none have as yet yielded definite results.

Perhaps the most promising of the leads are those of Alabama and Mexico. Last Monday the town marshal of Irvington wired the Pinkerton office in Mobile that someone answering the general description of Spurgin had called for mail at the postoffice there. At once a horde of operatives swooped down on the territory. They found that Spurgin had some friends and distant relatives there; but that was all. They still are searching.

Keeping Eyes on Mexico.

For some days the state's attorney's office has been watching Mexico. It was learned yesterday that Spurgin, on the eve of his departure, told a woman in Chicago that his destination was Honduras.

Arthur Jones, with offices in the Otis building, told Chief Investigator Ben Newmark and Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane that he had met Spurgin on the Golden State Limited at Huntington, Mo., just after Spurgin fled this city. He said the missing bank head had told him he was going to Mexico, where he had mining property. And Jones knows Spurgin well, he says.

Then information drifted to Prosecutor McShane that a woman had left with Spurgin. They were heading southwest. The woman's son, it was reported, met them in El Paso. Spurgin crossed the border under an assumed name. He planned, it is said, to stay a while in a small town in the state of Durango, and thence to go to Honduras.

Detectives on the Job.

Detectives will arrive in that small town this afternoon. And, in addition, W. C. Bruns, handling the investigation for Lloyds, admitted yesterday that he, too, had sent men to Mexico.

Search for Miss Helen LeRoy, 21 years old and blonde, believed to have been friendly to Spurgin previous to his flight from Chicago, has so far shown no results. The identity of Miss LeRoy was established through Alfred Meyer, a chauffeur living at 3218 Dickens avenue.

Mrs. Mary McHugh, mentioned by Toplis & Harding's investigators in connection with an oil stock deal by Spurgin, was released by Assistant State's Attorney James E. McShane after an hour's questioning. Mrs. McHugh came voluntarily to Chicago to offer her services in unraveling the affair.

"She is not implicated in any way," Prosecutor McShane declared. "She has made a thorough statement; it absolves her from any interest in Spurgin or his accounts."

Inquiry into the bank's affairs is still proceeding under the tutelage of State Bank Examiner Savage. A petition for the appointment of a receiver for the Warren Oil company was filed by several creditors. Another plea, this one an involuntary petition in bankruptcy for Spurgin and his affairs, was also filed.

FARM AND GARDEN

CUTTING SWEET CLOVER CROP FOR SEED.

Until recent years sweet clover has been regarded as an undesirable weed in this country. Since this plant has been taken out of the ranks of pests and placed over in the class with other useful crops farmers have had another problem added to their job at harvest time.

In harvesting the crop for hay it is handled in about the same way as alfalfa, but where it is to be cut and thrashed for seed the farmer is confronted with a different problem. Down in Grundy county F. L. Longmier has had several years of experience with sweet clover and he gets the largest amount of mature seed by cutting the crop when one-half to two-thirds of the seeds are ripe.

Here are some other things he has found worth while: Losses from shattering may be reduced by cutting the clover in the morning when the dew is on or in damp weather. While the color of the seed may be a little better if the crop is harvested when one-fourth or one-third of the seeds are ripe they show less plumpness and maturity when cut at this stage.

The hot weather has cut the hay crop short and many farmers will need the sweet clover hullings or straw for feed. In such cases it may be worth while to cut the sweet clover a little earlier.

Where the hullings are to be used for feed and are not cut a little green the stems become woody as the plant nears maturity, the straw has a bitter taste and some difficulty is often experienced in getting live stock to eat it.

Harvesting sweet clover when not more than one-fourth or one-third of the seeds are ripe the plants are not so woody and bitter and they go through the binder and thrasher much easier.

CHICAGO RESERVE CUTS RATE TO 6% ON REDISCOUNTS

BY O. A. MATHER.

The improving financial condition of the middle west in particular and the easing money rates in general were reflected yesterday in the action of the directors of the Chicago federal reserve bank in lowering the rediscount rate on commercial loans from 6½ to 6 per cent. The rediscount rates now are uniform at 6 per cent on all classes of loans.

The action of the Chicago institution was almost a foregone conclusion following lowering of rediscount rates by other federal reserve banks. Within the last fortnight all the banks except the Chicago and Minneapolis institutions have reduced the commercial paper rediscount rate to 5½ per cent. Now only Minneapolis is maintaining the 6½ per cent rate. Pressure by the federal reserve board and officials of the treasury, which now is offering $300,000,000 of its certificates at interest rates of 5¼ to 5½ per cent, has been largely responsible for the lowering of rediscount rates.

New Issues Make Bow.

With the easing of money rates the market for high yield investment securities has improved and several important new flotations are being put out. On Monday an issue of $25,000,000 Swift & Co. ten year 7 per cent debenture bonds will be offered by a Chicago banking syndicate headed by the Illinois Trust and Savings and the First Trust and Savings banks. The price will be approximately 97½, yielding 7¾ per cent. The proceeds will be used to meet a similar amount of 6 per cent notes which mature on Aug. 15.

An issue of $16,000,000 Philippine government one year 4 per cent certificates of indebtedness is being offered by a Chicago-New York syndicate at 98.10, yielding about 6 per cent. Another issue of $1,178,000 City of Toledo, O., 5½ and 6 per cent public improvement bonds is offered at prices to yield from 5.50 to 5.35 per cent, accrued interest to be added. A $5,000,000 issue of Cleveland Electric Illuminating company twenty year 7 per cent sinking fund gold debenture bonds is offered at 95, yielding about 7¾ per cent.

Farmers' Condition Improves.

Some improvement in the farmers' financial position is noted in the Chicago federal reserve bank's July report on business conditions in the middle west.

"Agricultural production is regarded as sufficient to enable the farmer to liquidate a considerable portion of current and bank indebtedness if he is able to market his product," the review says. "Manufacturing and mercantile business is reflecting a disposition on the part of consumers to buy only what is necessary. In the agricultural sections the disposition is to be more insistent regarding price concessions than in the manufacturing centers.

"There is a decided tendency among farmers to market their wheat as fast as it is threshed. Price adjustments of the automobile industry to a lower selling level are progressing in an orderly manner. While there has been some revival of sales, the announcements have not stabilized the market. Manufacturing generally is marking time."

Sears Sales for July Drop.

July sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co., the Chicago mail order house, are estimated at 35 per cent below July, 1920. A statement covering the first half of this year shows an operating loss of $3,500,000. Dividend payments totaled $2,200,000, making a total deduction of $5,800,000 from surplus, which on June 30 stood at $1,700,000. Inventories were reduced nearly $25,000,000 to $80,500,000. Accounts receivable dropped nearly $4,000,000 to $43,800,000 and accounts payable declined over $6,000,000 to $4,500,000. Notes payable receded more than $14,500,000 to $30,000,000.

The company bought in the open market $2,234,000 of its $50,000,000 serial notes, of which $16,500,000 mature in October. Cash on hand and marketable securities remain practically unchanged, while fixed assets and investments have increased somewhat in value.

2 FIRMS ABANDON PITTSBURGH PLUS BASIS ON STEEL

New York, July 29.—[Special.]—Two independent steel manufacturers in the Chicago district, in an endeavor to get some of the business available in that section, have eliminated the Pittsburgh basing policy, which for many years has been a fixture in the industry, according to statements here today.

Some steel men expressed concern regarding elimination of the Pittsburgh basis in view of the recent fight made by certain companies to maintain this policy in face of opposition on the part of the federal trade commission. That body recently reopened the question, to reconsider the decision rendered at the first hearings, which was in favor of the steel companies.

In view of the action on the part of the smaller companies to eliminate the long established policy, it is believed the federal trade commission will finally decide the case in favor of the consumers.

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

Export sales of wheat in all positions yesterday were 750,000 bu, including a cargo to Sweden and two cargoes of hard winters to Brazil. This makes six cargoes to South America of late and five going to Brazil and one to Uruguay, the business being stimulated by hard winters being materially cheaper than Argentine winters. A pause was noted in the German demand, but there were some inquiries from England. Export sales of corn were 200,000 bu. At Chicago export sales of wheat were 150,000 bu and corn 370,000 bu, mostly late in the afternoon, that needed 4¾c over September at Chicago for early August and 2¾@3c over September for deferred shipment. Exporters were inquiring for oats here late in the day, but no business was good.

Domestic sales of wheat were 55,000 bu; corn 88,000 bu; oats, 120,000 bu, and barley, 23,000 bu.

July deliveries were 301,00 bu wheat, 140,000 bu corn, 60,000 bu oats, and 127,000 bu rye, all on track. There were 8,550 cars of all grain on track in Chicago yesterday, with 3,428 cars running to elevators.

Cash wheat prices were 3@5c lower at Chicago, although premiums were little changed. Minneapolis reported a good demand, with No. 1 dark northern scarce and the premiums advanced 5c to 80c over their September. Kansas City, St. Louis, and Omaha combined had 1,387 cars of wheat, against 674 cars last year. At Kansas City prices were 1@5c lower; Omaha, unchanged to 3c lower; St. Louis, 2@6c lower.

Corn prices at Chicago were ½@1½c lower and closed at the inside. St. Louis yellow was up 1c and white ½@1½c lower. Kansas City, 1c lower to 1c higher; Milwaukee, 2@2½c lower; Omaha, ½@1c lower.

Oats at Chicago closed ½@2½c lower at the inside. Other markets were ½@1½c lower.

U.S. EXPORTS TO EUROPE FALL OFF BY $1,500,000,000

Washington, D. C., July 29.—Exports to Europe fell off nearly $1,500,000,000, while those to South America increased more than $30,000,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30 last, as compared with the previous year, commerce department figures disclosed today. In June there was a sharp decline in both directions compared to the same month a year ago.

The year's exports to Europe were $3,408,000,000, against $4,863,000,000 in 1920; imports were $937,000,000, against $1,179,000,000. June exports to Europe totaled $177,000,000, against $296,000,000 last year, while imports were $54,000,000, compared with $118,000,000.

South American exports for the fiscal year amounted to $523,000,000, compared with $490,000,000, and imports aggregated $485,000,000, as against $860,000,000, while June exports totaled $17,000,000, compared to $46,000,000, and exports aggregated $19,000,000, as against $81,000,000.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

There is a large open interest in July rye, local and outside speculators being short and New York exporters long. The latter are expected to put enough grain in the market to prevent any unusual advance at the last today. There were buyers of cash rye in outside markets yesterday and sellers of July here. They have been disappointed in getting rye in eastern markets, particularly at Montreal, and took No. 3 rye here at the last at 7c under July upon request of President J. P. Griffin of the Chicago Board of Trade that the No. 3 rye should be kept somewhat in line with the No. 2, much of it selling at 15c under.

There will be no sensational advance in July corn today; the leading interest is expected to put enough on the market to satisfy all demands. Should a few of the stubborn shorts in July wheat hold off the market will show some strength. Oats are not wanted and the break to 3c under September at the close yesterday showed an absence of interest.

Gulf wheat for July shipment, straight No. 2 hard, was 12½c over September, with first half of August 12c over last half 11c over, September 11c over, Gulf No. 2 hard or red ½c less, No. 2 rye, track New York, first half of August, 25c over September, last half 19c over. Montreal was 2c less for both positions.

A New York exporter who has been over the Canadian northwest estimates the wheat crop of the three provinces at 270,000,000 bu, against 232,000,000 bu last year. Winnipeg people are claiming anywhere from 275,000,000 to 350,000,000 bu.

Cash sales of wheat at Chicago for the month, as compiled by Raymond's News Bureau, were 8,013,000 bu, corn 5,811,000 bu, oats 3,026,000 bu, rye 360,000 bu, barley 251,000 bu.

Jackson Bros. & Co. nave taken over the Conover elevator at Peoria and will operate it.

Closing hog trade yesterday was the highest of the week, with packers better buyers, making the best clearance of the week. A dozen loads, averaging 170@215 lbs., topped the market at $11.75, with the day's general average the same as Thursday at $10.65. Armour's droves cost around $10.38.

Barring the week ending June 4, this week's receipts of hogs are the smallest in four months, while shipments from Chicago for the week at 37,000 are the largest since March. The good outside demand was the principal strengthening factor in the trade. The shipping and export demand for meats also helped.

The general trade in cattle was low and unsatisfactory, with sales on a weak to 25c lower basis, the in-between grades showing most decline. A load of 1,224 lb. steers sold at $9.40, with few good enough to sell above $8.75. The price range widened considerably this week. Feeding cattle declined 25c yesterday.

Lambs sold actively, with most offerings 10@15c higher, the best Idaho and Oregon rangers selling at $10.25, with top natives at $10.00. Sheep were in more liberal supply, and values ruled steady to 25c lower, Montana wethers selling at $6.00, against $6.25 Thursday and $6.50 Wednesday.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

A sensational crop of 3,000,000,000 bu of corn or 232,000,000 bu less than last year is forecast by the Snow Barrett-Frazier report. The loss of 300,000,000 bu during the last month is double the unusual shrinkage during July. The condition was 83.7, against 90.1 on July 1. In Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio, southern Indiana, and Illinois damage is irreparable, while in Iowa and Nebraska the crop shows high condition, but is apparently at the limit of its resources in many sections.

Snow's winter wheat crop, based on thrashing returns, is 564,000,000 bu, a loss of 10,000,000 bu for the month, and is 14,000,000 bu short of last year. Spring wheat condition of 93.7, compared with 80.8 last month, indicates 198,000,000 bu, a loss of 37,000,000 bu for the month, and of 11,000,000 bu from last year. A disastrous reduction was suffered by the oat crop with an estimated yield of 1,079,000,000 bu, a loss of 30,000,000 bu in twenty-five days and compares with 1,526,000,000 bu harvested last year. Potatoes have suffered with other crops, promising the smallest yield since the partial failure of 1909.

The Modern Miller says much of soft winter wheat is yielding 8 to 10 bu and testing 56 to 58 lbs., but the hushed movement from farms in all districts subsiding. Cutting started in west. Spring wheat harvest making good progress. Thrashings in Minnesota and South Dakota unsatisfactory. Canadian wheat maturing rapidly.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, VICTORIA COUPE. This is the latest and current series and the same car that we are delivering new today costing over $5,000. It has not been used a great deal and has the appearance of a new car. It carries our guarantee and has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, etc. There is hardly a scratch on the paint. If you are looking for a Cadillac Coupe at a great saving in a car that is as good as new, do not fail to see this one. Special for this sale, $4,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, ROADSTER. This is the latest and current series and selling new today for over $4,200. This car does not look like a used automobile. Customer is exchanging for a Cadillac with larger seating capacity. Goodyear cord tires now on car, show no wear; has one extra and bumper. Painted standard Cadillac blue, with hardly a scratch on it. This car has been used so little that it can hardly be told from a new automobile; has not been run enough to thoroughly limber up the motor. If you are looking for a roadster greatly reduced in price, but still like a new automobile and carrying a new car guarantee, do not fail to see this car at once. Special for this sale, $3,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, TOURING CAR. It is going to be very hard to describe this car in an ad. It must be appreciated. We have made a thorough examination of this car and renewed what parts were necessary. The car has been painted a dark Cadillac blue in our own shop. We have also re-covered the top in our trim shop and replated all bright parts. It has the appearance of a new automobile and will carry our standard guarantee. It has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, etc. Everything considered, this is without a question the lowest priced Cadillac offered in this paper. If you are looking for a used Cadillac that is all right in every respect and a real bargain, do not miss this opportunity. Price $1,900.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, PHAETON SPORT MODEL. This is the current series and the same car that we are delivering new today for over $4,200. It was turned in to us by one of our customers for a larger model of the Cadillac after he had used it a short time. We have just revarnished the car, although the original paint was in good condition. Has an excellent set of tires that show but very little wear (one extra), bumper, spotlight, etc. This car we will guarantee. If you want to make a big saving on a Cadillac, do not fail to look this car over. Special for this sale, $3,000.

HAYNES 4 PASSENGER CHUMMY. Model 59. Conceded by many to be the best Haynes model this company has ever built. Mechanical condition is in every way far above the average used car. Has just been repainted in our own paint shop. Has many extras. Tires are good. As our price is way below the market, if you want to avail yourself of this bargain you will have to act quickly. Special for this sale, $750.
